Second Transatlantic Plane Lands In Germany Two Fliers Complete Ocean Crossing After Wandering For Time

Hillig and Hoiriss Land at Krefeld, Germany, after Flying Over Spain and France; Refuel and Head for Copenhagen, Which They Set as Goal When Thirty-Two Hours Before They Left Harbor Grace, Nfld.; Fall Short and Land at Bremen.

Canadian Press
Bremen, Germany, June 25.—Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriss, transatlantic fliers, landed here to-day, about 240 miles short of Copenhagen, Denmark, the goal of their flight from Newfoundland.

REFUELED AT KREFELD
Canadian Press
Krefeld, Germany, June 25.—Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriss, transatlantic fliers, made a forced landing here at 5:30 p.m. to-day, thirty-two hours after their departure from Newfoundland, and an hour and a quarter later took off for Copenhagen, Denmark, their goal, which they had missed on their first attempt.

Before hopping off the men had a supply of gasoline put in their plane, the Liberty, and had a light luncheon of hot coffee, sandwiches, pickles and a "schnitzel." Nor did their extreme haste prevent them from seizing the opportunity to toss off several steins of beer, for which the region is famous.

MUCH INTEREST IS CREATED BY THORNTON PLAN

No Further Details Regarding Proposed Pooling of C.P.R. and C.N.R. Ships

The announcement at Ottawa yesterday, by Sir Henry Thornton, that the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National railways were considering a plan of joint service by steamer between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, and the inauguration of a service from Victoria and Vancouver to San Francisco, has aroused much interest here.

Further details of this scheme are expected to come from Montreal, the headquarters of both companies shortly. So far nothing has been heard from the Canadian Pacific, regarding the plan. Officials of the companies both here and in Vancouver, know nothing regarding the proposed joint service by the well-known Princess and Prince steamers.

At the present time there are four sailing a day to Vancouver and three to Seattle. With a small cut in these services, the two companies have between them enough equipment to extend the service to San Francisco with about two sailings a week from this port and Vancouver. If this service is entered by the Canadian companies the steamers would only be allowed to trade between Canada and one United States port. United States shipping laws prohibit a foreign ship from doing business between two American ports.

The meeting adopted a resolution calling upon the Provincial Conservative Association to hold a convention as early as possible.

DIRECT RELIEF PLAN FAILS TO GET APPROVAL

B.C. Lower Mainland Municipalities Say Federal 50-30-20 Per Cent Not Acceptable
Mayors and Reeves State Work Should Be Provided For All Needy

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 25.—Opposition to the new government policy of financing direct relief, under which the Dominion Government would pay 50 per cent, the province 30 per cent and municipalities 20 per cent, was expressed in a resolution adopted to-day at a conference here of mayors and reeves of lower British Columbia mainland cities and municipalities.

The resolution described the present situation as a national emergency and said the only means available to municipalities to raise money was to hypothecate its assets.

FINANCES STRAINED
The Provincial Government will be advised that, even if municipalities should desire they are financially unable to accept the proportional scheme, and besides, are unalterably opposed to any action which could be described as the inauguration of an unsound and unsystematic scheme, the carrying out of which would only lead to confiscation of property of citizens.

Big Income Tax In New South Wales Planned

Wages Over $50 a Week to Pay Levy of 25 Per Cent After July 1

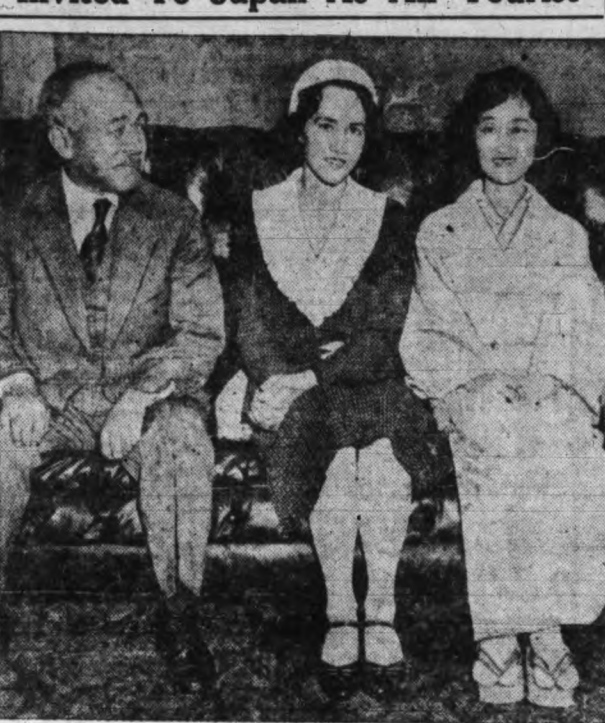

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters
Sydney, Australia, June 25.—Sincere efforts are being made by the government of New South Wales under the leadership of Premier J. T. Lang to balance the state's budget this year despite the severe economic distress that has been experienced throughout Australia. It is likely a new tax on wages in addition to the income tax will be put through.

$30,000,000 REVENUE
The new tax on wages is expected to yield about $30,000,000 during the twelve months from July 1 next, in which it will operate. It will replace a tax of five per cent already levied on wages for unemployment relief. The new scale will be five per cent on wages of $20 a week, rising to twenty-five per cent on wages of $50 a week and over.

Berkley's wife and children are visiting at Merritt and Cole was staying with him.

Post and Gatty At Moscow On World Flight

Pause at Russian Capital Overnight After Plane Journey From Berlin Field

Next Jump in Their Great Speed Record Attempt Is to Irkutsk, Siberia

Moscow, June 25.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, round-the-world speed fliers, landed at the October airdrome here from Berlin at 5:30 p.m. to-day (7:30 a.m. Victoria time).

They left Berlin at 7:38 this morning, Berlin time, 10:38 yesterday evening, Victoria time, for the 950-mile lap of their trip, of which two legs were completed when they landed at the field on the edge of Moscow.

They covered the 950 miles in slightly less than nine hours.

GREETED AT FIELD
Few persons aside from airfield attaches and newspaper correspondents were on hand to greet Post and Gatty when they landed on the October field. They were officially welcomed by officers of the Soviet Society for the Development of Aviation, a civil organization for the promotion of flying.

When they alighted here the two fliers had covered about 5,000 miles of their proposed 14,000-mile circuit of the world, which they hope to complete in ten days, setting a record and bettering the mark of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin. Their next goal is Irkutsk, 2,600 miles east of Moscow.

HONORED AT BANQUET

A banquet was arranged in honor of Post and Gatty at the Grand Hotel here this evening by the Soviet Society for the Development of Aviation.

The flight from Moscow to Irkutsk on paper, the second leg of the fliers' world journey. The hop from Newfoundland to Berlin was 2,860 miles as it was charted, and considerably longer in fact because of uncertainty as to the course after reaching Europe.

The jump from Berlin to Moscow was believed here to have been lengthened by some conditions of the journey for the plane is capable of 150 miles an hour cruising speed, and if the charted course had been followed the fliers should have reached this city some time before they did.

Post and Gatty planned to spend the night in Moscow and leave for Irkutsk to-morrow.

When they landed at Moscow the airmen had completed nearly one-third of their round-the-world flight.

The Soviet Foreign Office was not represented at the banquet, but those who welcomed the fliers at October Airfield.

WILL DEDICATE OLD SCHOOL AS PUBLIC MUSEUM

Students of Old Craigflower School Hold Reunion Saturday Afternoon

A reunion of former pupils and teachers of Old Craigflower School and pioneers of the district, will be held in the grounds of the historic school next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the old school bell, now hanging in the school across the road, will be rung by J. W. Newbury, who taught in the Old Craigflower School from 1878 to 1883.

The guests will be asked by Mrs. E. Kinsman and Mrs. Wm. Kinsman to sign a public school register donated by Dr. S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education. This register will be kept and used as a visitors' book in the old school. The guests will be presented with a reunion souvenir which includes a view of the old school, made by Major W. G. H. Pith, and a poem by Mrs. Selma Roach, dedicated to teachers and pupils of the old Craigflower School and pioneers of the district.

R. H. Hiscoc, Chief Factor of Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia, will give a brief outline of the history of the old school. Hon. R. H. Pooley will deal with the history of the old school and Premier Tolmie will give the chief address of the afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Beckwith will present the Premier with the key to the original front door. Premier Tolmie will receive the key on behalf of the people of British Columbia, as a symbol of the dedication of the building as a public museum.

This key is unique in history and design. It was found under the school house during renovation. The front door is being renovated.

CANADA-MEXICO TRADE TREATY

Manion Tells Commons Committee Negotiations May Lead to Pact

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 25.—Negotiations for a trade treaty between Canada and Mexico are proceeding. Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, gave this information to a Commons committee this forenoon.

The Department of Trade and Commerce was stated to be carrying on the negotiations, which were opened by a high official of the Mexican Government approaching Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways.

Sir Henry had broached the subject earlier. Canada, Sir Henry said, had a better trading opportunity with South America and Mexico than any other country.

"We are enemies of none and friends of all," said the railway president. South American republics and Mexico would "rather trade with Canada" than with Europe or the United States.

Commons Committee Hears Proposal Parliament Appoint Commission of Business Men to Investigate Entire Transportation Field In Canada and Make Report, on Which National Transportation Policy Could Be Based.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 25.—Appointment of a government commission to investigate the general transportation situation in Canada was suggested to-day by Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways. It should be a commission of business men, economists—men schooled in industrial and trade matters, he said. The whole interlocking question of transportation, trade and general national progress might be inquired into, although Sir Henry declined to define the terms of the reference he would have made to the commission.

Stimson To Go To Europe And Debate Debts

Will Join U.S. Treasury Secretary in Negotiations For One-year Moratorium

Associated Press
Washington, June 25.—A second cabinet member to-day arranged to sail for Europe to participate in the final negotiations for a one-year suspension of international war debts.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who recently announced along with Secretary Mellon that he would spend his vacation in Europe this summer, decided to sail Saturday aboard the liner Conte Grand for Naples.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon was changing his "vacation" headquarters from London to Paris and a tight-lipped silence fell on Washington officialdom regarding the progress of plans for carrying out the moratorium.

DELICATE SITUATION
The reply of France to the President's proposal was being studied by Mr. Hoover and Secretary Stimson, but the details of the supposed counterproposal of that country were not disclosed.

Washington looked to Secretary Mellon for a contribution toward solution of the delicate situation that has arisen over the moratorium proposal.

Official acceptance of the principle had been received from all the larger powers involved, with the biggest rough spot in the immediate road being France's counter-proposal.

SOVIET GIVES FLIGHT PERMIT TO LINDBERGH

Washington, June 25.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to-day obtained the consent of the Russian Government to fly over that country on his projected plane tour of the Far East.

A permit was granted in a cablegram from the Foreign Office to the Soviet Union information bureau here and forwarded to the flier.

Canada Urged to Sell Deep-sea Steamships

Sir Henry Thornton Favors Ending Government Merchant Marine as Subsidiary of C.N.R.; Commons May Vote on Plan

Ottawa, June 25.—Canada should sell its government Merchant Marine fleet, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, to-day recommended to the Commons committee on railways and shipping. Abandonment of all routes except those to the West Indies would be the only feasible financial alternative.

Millions of dollars had been lost in the past, the steamships were antiquated and uneconomical to operate and Sir Henry thought it would be cheaper to let them up at once, rather than continue their operation.

The fleet consists of thirty vessels which operate in both the Atlantic and the Pacific, running to South America, Australia, New Zealand, the West Indies and in coastal trade.

WELCOMED BY MANION
Any decision to abandon the fleet really would have to be made by the government, said Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals. The recommendation, however, was welcomed.

The committee took no definite action, but it was said it might do so at a later meeting this afternoon.

STIMSON TO GO TO EUROPE AND DEBATE DEBTS

FRANCE'S ATTITUDE

Diplomatic circles here felt positive the French attitude would discuss the Paris officials. The immediate difficulty, more than anything else, appeared to be the desire on the part of France to retain the unconditional reparations payments for actual war damage. The French note was held secret here, but no one denied unconditional reparations were involved.

The general optimism here that an agreement would be reached soon as to improve Germany's economic condition was expressed by Senator Watson, Republican Senate leader, after a talk with President Hoover.

Wu, Nationalist, Is Executed By Canton Forces

Hongkong, June 25.—The new Canton Government to-day completed the suppression of a revolt in its military ranks by executing Wu Tsung-feng, a Nationalist sympathizer accused of having fomented the uprising.

The trouble began Monday when the Canton regime encamped near that city revolted. A large force of loyal Cantonese troops was rushed to the scene. It surrounded the rebels and disarmed them the next day.

Wu, who recently was commissioned by the Nationalist Government to handle the recession of Weihaiwei, British leased territory in Shantung, to the Chinese, was arrested by Canton forces and accused of having aided Chiang Kai-shek, president of the National Government, in instigating the revolt and telegraphing Cantonese military secrets to Nanjing, seat of the Nationalist regime.

The execution of Wu at Canton followed.

porch was added some years after the original building was finished, so that the original heavy front door is now inside the porch. The lock on this door, which the key fits, was brought from England in 1853 and measures twelve by seven inches and has two knobs, one of which slides sideways as a latch.

Following the opening of the door Premier Tolmie and the other guests will be shown the pictures and historical relics in the old schoolroom. Mrs. Beckwith, convener of the historical committee, has collected pictures of the pioneers, pupils and teachers of the old school, and historical relics connected with the colony at Craigflower.

In this connection Mrs. Beckwith has had the assistance of many pioneers, John Hosie and the staff of the Provincial Archives and A. E. Maynard.

Preceding the speeches the bell will summon the guests for a group picture. All former teachers, pupils and owners of Craigflower will be seated in front of the old school at 2.35 o'clock.

TO PLANT HOLLY TREES

Later in the afternoon two holly trees will be planted on the grounds by George Jay and Alexander B. Watson. These young trees are uprooted from a holly tree now growing at the McKenzie home, Lake Hill, which was given by Mr. Jay's father to Miss Agnes McKenzie, Mr. Watson's aunt. Mr. Watson is a grandson of Kenneth McKenzie, founder of Craigflower and the only member of the family living in Canada.

H. E. Newton, now living in the original McKenzie home on the south side of the Craigflower Bridge, has given the committee permission to use the house on the front of the historic house, on the front of the bridge, the quaint thistle-shaped iron hinges made at Craigflower Forge in 1850.

The Hudson's Bay Company has delayed pulling down several dwelling places at the south end of the bridge until after the reunion, so as to give the visitors, some of whom lived as children in these houses, an opportunity to see them for the last time. One of these houses was made of squared timbers which can now be seen under the shingles. The bridge and time plaster were made at Craigflower kilns. The foundation of the original house, where bread was made for the naval ships at Esquimalt, is still standing and has been roofed and used as a root house.

The grounds committee, of which Mr. Hosie is convener, has arranged the renovation of the school building and fencing of the front garden. The Pioneer Society, Provincial Government, Do-Do Club, local poets of the Native Sons and Daughters of British Columbia and private citizens have helped financially. It is the desire of the trustees to fence the whole property and beautify the grounds for the use of the public.

After the reunion the school will be open to the public every afternoon except Friday, from 1 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. B. Clair, who lives in the schoolhouse, will serve tea to visitors.

Much interest attaches to the old school bell which will be rung to initiate the reunion. The bell belonged to the steamer Major Tomkins which on September 18, 1854, initiated a weekly mail service between Victoria and Esquimalt and was wrecked on February 19, 1855, at Macaulay Point.

Kenneth McKenzie, founder of Craigflower, bought the bell and presented it to the school where it hung on a frame outside the building. When Lord Dufferin visited Victoria in 1876 the bell was loaned to the city trustees, who sought to retain permanent possession. Their desires were defeated by the persistent efforts of James Stewart, Robert Porter and Martin J. Dodd, then trustees of Saanich schools.

It is fitting that Mr. Newbury should ring the bell to summon his former pupils and others connected with the old school. When only fifteen years of age, having passed his teacher's examinations, Mr. Newbury was appointed to teach at the Craigflower School and his family took up residence in the school house. Among his pupils were his own brother and sisters. He was noted as a splendid disciplinarian and a good teacher. Several parents in Victoria boarded their children in Craigflower district to attend school under Mr. Newbury. Others came in a boat daily from Esquimalt to Skins Cove and walked along Admirals Road to Craigflower.

TRUSTEE BOARD

The board of trustees of the old Craigflower School is composed of four elected members from Post No. 1, National Sons of British Columbia, a similar number from Post No. 3, Native Daughters of British Columbia. The board was created mainly through the efforts of the late William J. Lorimer, who, on hearing that the historic old building was to be pulled down, made arrangements for the lease of the school and grounds from the Saanich School Board. At the time of his death Mr. Lorimer was chairman of the trustees. Others who have served on this board were the late Mrs. L. M. Dodd and the late Mrs. E. J. Stapleton. Miss A. B. Cooke and Miss Lottie Brown have also represented the Native Daughters of British Columbia on the board, which is now composed of J. E. Wilson, chairman; Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, vice-chairman; F. Waller, treasurer; Miss K. Wilson, secretary; Mrs. T. Waters; Miss Anna Mason; R. H. Hosie and Wm. Kinsman.

MOTORCYCLE RODEO OPENS THIS EVENING

Does His Stuff." After this will come the introduction of members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club to be followed by thrilling rides by Reg. Shanks, Bill Dillabough and Steve Durnell. Feats of balancing will be performed by Reg. Shanks and Steve Durnell. Solo rides by Abie West and Bob Shanks will be witnessed next, and each of these riders has promised to provide his share of excitement.

A THRILLER
Another thriller of the evening will come when the half-mile dirt track race is staged. Only two riders will compete in this as it is pretty tricky work. They are Reg. Shanks and Bill Dillabough. The race will probably come to an end before the full distance is covered, as it has been found difficult for the riders to stay up while traveling round the track at a high rate, and when one falls, his opponent is declared winner of the race.

Motorcycle polo is the next event carded, when the Indian team will tackle the Harley-Davidson riders. This is sure to keep the fans on edge since not only will the excitement of playing on opposing sides be seen, but as one side rides Harley-Davidson machines and the opponents Indians, each of the players will be out to uphold the honors of his make of machine. Jimmy Norrington, elusive blonde-haired rider, will captain the Indian team, and Reg. Williams, popular president of the club, will handle the Harley-Davidson squad.

NOVELTY EVENTS
A series of novelties will introduce the fans to slow racing, surf-riding, good pick-up and reverse riding on motorcycles. In this last, too, will be seen an act by Jack Watt and his "motorcycling cannie." Jack has trained his dog for many months in perfecting this act, the result of which will be seen when the dog jumps aboard the bike as it travels in the enclosure.

A club drill, in which the only illumination will be the headlights and taillights of the bikes, with small lights in the wheels, promises to be most effective and picturesque.

Another sketch, entitled "A Local Problem," which involves a park keeper, a naughty dog and a policeman, with Jack Watt and his "motorcycling cannie" taking the respective parts will add to the amusement of the evening.

SEEK RECORD

The next event will be one of the features of the evening. Two riders, Abie West and Bob Shanks, will attempt to establish a record for indoor broom jumping. The jump will be made between two ramps, which will be placed approximately twelve feet apart. The riders will warm up at one end of the enclosure and after getting up speed will run up one ramp and take off, clearing the twelve feet of space and land on the other ramp. The task is difficult and dangerous and will require a steady nerve to prevent failure to make the jump.

A little-bucket contest followed by a spotlight review and a cave man soccer game, will bring the show to a close.

SONLEY'S ACTION NOW WINS PRAISE

One of these reports which appeared in The Times and some of its contemporaries on the mainland, but which several days later was rectified by a correct statement of the fact in this newspaper—stated that Mr. Sonley was the discoverer of a forgotten section of the Criminal Code under which an informer of a sweepstakes winning was entitled to collect in court the amount and interest on a bill of exchange which he had given to Mr. Sonley's mother, was garbled.

Mr. Sonley's action arose out of the discovery made of the informer section in the Gibbs case. As no disclosure was made by Messrs White & Martin, counsel for Miss Gibbs, in whose name an action already had been begun, by virtue of which the bank account of Mr. Sonley's mother, was garnished, Mr. Sonley's action arose out of the discovery made of the informer section in the Gibbs case. As no disclosure was made by Messrs White & Martin, counsel for Miss Gibbs, in whose name an action already had been begun, by virtue of which the bank account of Mr. Sonley's mother, was garnished, Mr. Sonley's action arose out of the discovery made of the informer section in the Gibbs case.

The whole incident was of an unusually interesting character because of its relation to sweepstakes and the fact that it introduced an entirely unexpected legal element into the situation. The discovery of the informer section of the Code, under which action was taken here, prompted similar proceedings in a Vancouver case by relatives of the winner of a large sweepstake in Ireland, and recently an action of the same type was instituted in Toronto.

The section of the Criminal Code which deals with the informer is as follows: "Every sale, loan, gift, barter by any lottery of chance, or otherwise, and all property so given or bartered is liable to be forfeited to any person who sues for same by action or in rem proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction."

TANKS ABOUT EMPTY
The aircraft, for whose safety fears had been felt, as they were due at Copenhagen, landed their plane with empty fuel tanks.

The plane was not damaged. The fliers said they had lost their way and had flown over Spain and France, exhausting their fuel. Other fliers said they could have made it to Copenhagen safely.

Aboard their monoplane, left Har-ber-Grace, Newfound, at 5.44 a.m., Newfoundland summer time yesterday.

INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION ROTARY TOPIC

Economic Subjects Debated By Groups of Big Convention at Vienna

Vienna, June 25.—Division of the Rotary visitors here for their twenty-second annual convention into five groups for the discussion, in as many different languages, of the economic topics brought forward by well-known speakers occupied the major part of to-day's morning session. In each assembly these problems were debated from a viewpoint of those speaking a common language, in various countries.

A report by the chairman of each group to the plenary session paved the way for an hour of discussion of the international co-operation which exists among the scientists, artists, musicians and those whose contributions to mankind transcend all national boundaries.

"Scientists are the pioneers in peaceful intercourse between peoples," said Professor Axel F. Enstrom of Stockholm, president of the International Electrotechnical Commission. "International trade for centuries has been mainly of the nature of an unarmaged feud. To-day the connection between commercial politics and national politics is still in reality extremely intimate."

"Not until very recently was it clearly understood that in its innermost nature, the exchange of goods is and must be an offer of service for the benefit of the other party and it is to the credit of the Rotary movement that it has seized on this conception. Its great task is to spread far and wide an understanding of the fundamental view of industrial life and its functions."

"The treasures of knowledge the scientist brings to light, he immediately places at the service of mankind. His production implies giving and not taking, and this insures his reception everywhere in the world without distrust. Is there not in this a testimony of experience to the practical importance of the principles the Rotary movement has undertaken to promote in every sphere of life? "There is now a widely ramified net of international scientific relations through many scientific societies which have come into being in the course of the years. Magnificent private initiatives have brought about the foundation of such institutions as the Carnegie and Rockefeller Foundations and the Nobel Prizes."

"International co-operation in the scientific field may be considered an object lesson for human activities. It bears the stamp of an unselfish appreciation of others and an endeavor to devote the fruits of the work of the individual to the benefit of humanity."

"The primary importance of all international co-operation is to draw together the peoples of the different countries so they may learn to know and understand each other. This in itself means much, but such international gathering is so much more valuable when it is stamped by the sincere desire of each and all to give something personal for the promotion of common interests. The experience gained in the field of science should be calculated to encourage the aspirations the Rotary movement has wished to make its own."

"Even though, under certain conditions, the prospect of a lasting mutual understanding between people of different nationalities may look dark, yet I dare to believe that the happier future for humanity."

An assembly for the promotion of the international exchange of youth met this afternoon for discussion of ways in which Rotarians could encourage travel by their sons and daughters among other peoples. The first attempts to take organized parties of boys from one country to another have been very satisfactory. A party of boys from Hamburg was entertained last summer in the homes of Englishmen, and this summer the English hosts will send their sons to Hamburg.

Simple shelters for the night for youths on walking tours during school vacations have been established by many Rotary clubs. A camp is being opened in Switzerland this summer by the Rotary clubs to receive sons of Rotarians from other countries.

In another conference, the actual methods of international commerce were to come under review, for the consideration of practices which should be eliminated in the interest of better commercial relations.

MP'S DISCUSS CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

If Government Investigates Examination Frauds It Will Report to Commons

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 25.—That recent charges of fraud in connection with civil service examinations and criminal prosecutions based thereon, might result in a government investigation of the Civil Service Commission was an intimation given the Commons yesterday evening by Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, when the civil government vote for the commission, consisting of $235,360 for salaries and $80,000 for contingencies, came before the House in committee.

The Civil Service Commission estimates formed the basis of a lively debate, which occupied some hours of the time of the committee. Major C. G. Foweraker, Liberal member for Quebec South, precipitated the discussion when he moved to reduce the appropriation to $1. Later, after Mr. Cahan had represented the commission, a statutory body and that Mr. Power's amendment involved breaking what amounted to a contract with that body, the member for Quebec South withdrew his first amendment.

He substituted another calling for a reduction in the amount by $1. The second amendment was defeated by a vote of sixty-nine to seventeen, and the item carried.

CASES IN COURTS

The merits system formed the whole basis for the operations of the Civil Service Commission, Mr. Cahan said. It had been represented to the government that inquiries should be made growing out of prosecutions, past and pending in connection with alleged acts which would destroy this system. The government, however, had taken no action in view of the fact that prosecutions were pending in both the courts of Ontario and Quebec, and that the whole matter was sub judice. But the government intended, when the criminal prosecutions were over, to examine the evidence with the greatest care, and if it warranted, there might be further inquiry to see how far the Civil Service Commission was vitiated by practices brought out at the trials. If such an inquiry was held, said Mr. Cahan, its results would be presented to Parliament.

POWER'S OPINION

In moving for reduction of the estimates of the Civil Service Commission, Major Power declared he objected to the principle of a non-responsible body administering the affairs of the country. He believed it was a negation of the principle of responsible government to have such a condition. He had no interest, he said, in moving the amendment, excepting that he did not think the Civil Service Commission was a good thing. He was willing to let the defeated candidate in his riding make the appointments for that constituency.

He was strongly supported in his position by Armand Lavigne, Deputy Speaker of the Commons, who stated Canada's judiciary was regarded as being of a high quality. Judicial appointments were made by the government in power, but that did not result in the selection of inferior men as judges. A minister in charge of a government department should not be required to accept the dictation of the Civil Service Commission, he said.

WOODSWORTH'S VIEWS

The Civil Service Commission system had its supporters, J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre, expressed the opinion it would be fatal to revert to a system where each member felt called on to reward individuals in his constituency for services rendered. The result would be to degrade the position of member of Parliament.

Rosebery Withdraws From Liberal Party In Great Britain

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 25.—Lord Rosebery yesterday announced his intention of withdrawing from further participation in the activities of the Liberal Party because of a disagreement with Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George in connection with recent negotiations with the MacDonald Government on land value taxes. Lord Rosebery was said to consider Lloyd George had gone back on an Edinburgh speech in which it was understood he favored the Liberal amendment to the land tax bill.

Peace River Rail Reports Are Studied

Ottawa, June 25.—The Canadian National Railways did no survey work in connection with the proposed Peace River outlet to the B.C. Coast this year because the Canadian Pacific was prepared to do it and there was no need of duplicating the work, Sir Henry Ferguson told the special committee of the Commons yesterday in reply to a question asked by D. M. Kennedy, U.P.A. Peace-River. Copies of the report made as a result of these surveys had been received by the Minister of Railways and himself.

A conference would be held with the C.P.R. and C.N.R. officials participating to decide what steps would be taken. The Canadian National had made several partial surveys of different passes in previous years.

The Northern Alberta Railways owned jointly by the C.P.R. and C.N.R. had a net operating revenue of $801,949 in 1930 and $795,048 in 1929, Mr. Kennedy was told.

MEDICAL MEN ADDRESSED BY PREMIER OF B.C.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 25.—British Columbia's welcome to delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association was extended here yesterday evening in an address by Premier Tolmie.

Introduced as a native son and the son of one of the province's earliest pioneers, Dr. Tolmie outlined the tremendous development which had been achieved in this province since the coming of the railroad. He contrasted conditions in British Columbia to-day with those when his father practiced medicine here from 1833 onward, adding that two years hence he would attend a celebration at Vancouver, Wash. in honor of his father's arrival on the Pacific Coast.

Dr. Tolmie paid a tribute to the medical fraternity in British Columbia and Canada, declaring Canada's doctors to-day ranked with the best in the profession.

He referred to British Columbia's development of its hospital facilities, urging the visiting medical men to pay visits to provincial mental and tuberculosis institutions before they returned eastward to their homes.

Touching on industrial and commercial development of the province, Premier Tolmie invited the visiting doctors to return to British Columbia at the earliest possible date and become more thoroughly acquainted with its natural beauties.

Statement Awaited At Ottawa on New Wheat Board Request

Ottawa, June 25.—Representatives of the governments of the three prairie provinces and Wheat Pool officials yesterday discussed the wheat situation with Premier Bennett and members of the cabinet.

A proposal was submitted to the government for the establishment of a Dominion wheat board, which would take over the marketing of this year's crop. The whole wheat situation in the prairie provinces was canvassed in the course of discussions. While there was no announcement made, it is understood the Dominion Government made no intimation of its decision. Further conversations were expected to take place.

The prairie representatives included Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan, Hon. R. A. Healy, Manitoba Minister of Education, H. W. Wood, Alberta Wheat Pool, A. J. McPhail, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, A. Cairns, statistician of the Canadian Wheat Pool, and R. D. Purdy, Alberta Pool.

GLIDER RECORD

London, June 25.—The chairman of the British Gliding Association yesterday explained the association had not refused recognition of the glider flight from England to France across the English Channel made by Lieut. Beardmore, Toronto, last Friday. The flight had not been submitted to the association, and if Lieut. Beardmore could submit proof of his accomplishment he would receive recognition, it was stated.

Buy a shirt with that $3 you save

This is merely a suggestion. Spend the money any way you wish. But remember that Listerine Tooth Paste saves $3 yearly for each member of the family.

A million men choose this Tooth Paste

Listerine Tooth Paste gets results. It does its job quickly—thoroughly—permanently.

Tobacco stains disappear like magic. Tartar is removed in a jiffy, and discolorations from other sources soon vanish. The teeth whiten, the enamel acquires a lasting brilliance, because the teeth are cleaner, healthier than ever before.

The cleansing agents in Listerine Tooth Paste are not like those in the ordinary dentifrice. They are hard enough to clean perfectly, and remove food particles from crevices between the teeth. But they are so mild that they can do no mischief to the all-important enamel surface. The refreshing effect of Listerine is also a characteristic of this dentifrice, made and sponsored by the makers of Listerine itself.

This tooth paste sells for 25¢, just about half of what you usually pay for a quality dentifrice. The $3 you save each year is worth knowing about, and worth having. You can figure on an equal saving for everyone in your household. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Toronto, Ontario.

SEAPLANE SERVICES

THE EXPANSION OF AIRWAY COMMUNICATION between Victoria and the Mainland naturally is a desirable development. The more transportation facilities we have the more we should progress, and the announcement that among the several companies which are about to operate seaplanes between this city, Vancouver and Seattle, is the Western Canadian Airways Limited, in which the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways are largely interested, will be received with considerable satisfaction. But the further statement that this company proposes to use the Inner Harbor as its Victoria terminal in the light of the record will be bewildering to many people.

On the correspondence files of the City Council and Chamber of Commerce are numerous telegrams and letters from the Hon. Mr. Durand, Minister of Marine; President Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and President Sir Henry Thornton, of the Canadian National Railways, declaring their unalterable disapproval of the establishment of a seaplane base in the Inner Harbor because the operation of seaplanes in that area involved a menace to shipping. Not longer ago than May 26, the Minister of Marine, whose department originally approved of the application of a site for a seaplane base at Erie Street by the Pacific International Airways, and then withdrew approval, wrote: "I may say that after careful consideration the conclusion was reached that owing to the quantity of shipping using the Inner Harbor the proposed site is not a suitable one for a seaplane base."

On May 29, the General Executive Assistant of the C.P.R. at Montreal, on behalf of Mr. Beatty, in reply to a communication from the Chamber of Commerce, wrote: "As has been pointed out in communications from our chairman and president to those in Victoria who are interested, it is considered by competent authorities that the establishment of a hydroplane base in Victoria Harbor would be a serious menace to shipping, and while we appreciate the anxiety shown to establish this small industry in Victoria, it is our opinion that navigation must be given protection in entering and leaving what is already a congested port. We do not consider that adequate regulations could be drawn that would give sufficient protection to regular lines of shipping, and the many hundreds of pleasure boats now using the harbor. I sincerely trust that you will appreciate the viewpoint of the shipping companies who have many millions of dollars invested in Victoria Harbor and the ships using it."

On November 18, 1930, telegrams were received from both Mr. Beatty and Sir Henry Thornton in similar terms, in reply to messages from the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and other bodies in Victoria, urging them to withdraw their opposition to the establishment by the Pacific International Airways of a seaplane base in the harbor which would have involved the expenditure of a considerable sum and the employment of local people. The curious feature of the whole business was, that although there was vigorous opposition in Montreal and Ottawa to the seaplane base on the ground that the use of the waters of the harbor by seaplanes was a menace to shipping, aircraft were permitted to operate there just the same. What we lost was the base.

When he was last in Victoria, Mr. Beatty recommended that efforts be made to secure the use of Esquimalt Harbor for seaplane-base purposes, of which, however, the civil aviation experts at Ottawa had not approved and which had been refused, in any case, by the government. Recently, though, word was received from Ottawa that through the efforts of Mr. Plunkett, M.P., and Mr. Dickie, M.P., the government had been persuaded to withdraw its ruling, and the inference was that in future all seaplane transportation companies would have to use that harbor, since, in the opinion of the Minister at Ottawa, the congestion of shipping in Victoria Harbor made such operation there dangerous.

The announcement that the company in which the two transportation systems are heavily interested now proposes to do in the Inner Harbor what the railway executives emphatically declared should not be permitted, suggests a complete reversal of viewpoint on their part, as well as a second reversal on the part of the government, and Victoria is entitled to assume that henceforth there will be no opposition from them to the proposal to establish a seaplane base on the foreshore of Erie Street. If that implication is correct—and it is impossible in the face of the latest development to see how it can be incorrect—the large element in Victoria, including The Times, who disagreed with the attitude of the government and railway chiefs and strenuously endeavored to have them change it, will welcome their conversion and hope that the new service to be operated by the Western Canadian Airways Company from the Inner Harbor will be profitable to the company and the public alike. It is gratifying to note that the company is under the capable direction of Major MacLaren, which in itself should be a guarantee of efficient service.

THE RESPONSIBILITY IS CLEAR

WHEN IT SAYS THAT NEITHER OF the Canadian parties has very much to its credit in connection with the New Zealand affair, The Vancouver Province is hardly putting the case as clearly as it might be put, especially as far as it applies to the former government at Ottawa.

It is quite true the King administration, through the Dunning budget of May 1 last year, gave notice that on October 12 the duty on New Zealand butter would be increased from one cent to four cents a pound, and that on that date also the old agreement would terminate. But it was the intention of the government to take up the matter of a new treaty in the meantime, the object being, of course, to adjust the reciprocal features of the exchange of commodities so that they would be mutually beneficial.

We agree with The Province that the government acted unwisely in permitting itself to be more or less influenced by all the loose talk that was being indulged in about the effect our importations of New Zealand butter was having upon the Canadian dairy industry. The position was grossly exaggerated as events have shown. It is safe to say, however, that if the King government had been returned last July, the record would not show such a serious decline in our trade with New Zealand as it does now.

There is nothing at all to the credit of the present administration in its dealings with the southern Dominion. Not satisfied with Mr. Dunning's proposal to make the butter duty four cents instead of one, it doubled the tax and made it eight cents. New Zealand's answer was the cancellation of the preference which Canadian motor cars and automobile accessories had enjoyed in that market for many years. This cost Canada between five and six millions of dollars. This was bad enough, but when on the same day that Mr. Bennett presented his budget at Ottawa the New Zealand government announced that in future—as no efforts on the part of this country had been made to improve matters—Canadian goods would be treated as if they were foreign goods, the full effect of this tariff fighting made itself felt.

It therefore will be observed that not until the butter duty went up to eight cents a pound did New Zealand retaliate at all, while the dilatoriness of the present government at Ottawa obviously was responsible for the final act of the Forbes government on June 1. We agree with The Vancouver Province, moreover, when it says "there is evidently a situation here which would repay some personal attention of the Minister of Trade and Commerce." Nor should there be any further delay in commencing negotiations looking to a new treaty. Never were outside markets so necessary for Canada's economic well-being as they are at the present time.

A FINE WORK

ROTARY IN VANCOUVER IS ADDING another monument to its service in the cause of health. In less than a month a preventorium, an institution for the care of youngsters exposed to tuberculosis, will be in operation in that city as the result of the organization's setting aside ten years ago of $10,000, which has been drawing interest all the time, as the nucleus of a fund for this purpose. Joining in the venture with the Rotary Club is the I.O.O.F., which has $11,000 for the institution, and the City Council, while a private individual with a fine sense of public spirit has agreed to contribute $5,000 a year toward the cost of operation.

At the present time Toronto is the only Canadian city which has a regularly established institution of this kind. The institution in Vancouver will form an important addition to its curative establishments. How necessary it is that prevention, rather than cure, should be the watchword in the fight against tuberculosis, is emphasized by the fact that the death rate from this disease in Canada in 1930 has increased over the year before by three points, while attendance at urban clinics, according to Dr. Robert E. Woodhouse, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, throughout the Dominion has doubled.

If a careful watch is maintained over young people who are exposed to tuberculosis, it stands to reason that many who otherwise would become victims will be spared the agony of the disease. Nor is this all. They will be able to obtain at the preventorium complete instructions as to their personal habits. This is important not alone to themselves but to all with whom they come in contact.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

SLOW DRIVERS
The Hamilton Spectator

In a recent edition of The St. Catharines Standard, there was a characteristically candid editorial on the subject of road-hogs in general and the slow-driving breed in particular. These road-hogs were taken apart, quite evidently in an attempt to discover what makes them tick, and reading the editorial one is forced to the conclusion the writer of it found himself trapped in a traffic line behind a "Sunday driver." The name has been bestowed across the line on those who operate their motor-cars only on week-ends and then drive out just leisurely to view the scenery. The fact that the regular traffic pace is thirty-five miles an hour is of no concern to the slow driver. He is quite content to mope along at fifteen or twenty miles an hour, and he doubtsless prides himself on being a safe-and-sound driver. Yet experience has taught that the slow driver is a menace just as is the lad with the heavy accelerator foot. The slow driver on a congested highway makes it necessary for those behind to cut out of the traffic line if they would keep up with normal traffic pace. Held up by a slow driver, there is always the temptation when one does get past to step on the gas to make up for the delay he caused. In many of the states of the union to the south, it is a misdemeanor to drive slowly and motorcycle officers quickly spot the culprit and warn them that they will have to keep up with the parade.

THE ONLY ROAD
The Economist (London)

Once again the captains of industry of every country have met in convocation and pointed out to the governments and the peoples the only road that leads to economic salvation. They have heard once more reiterated, emphasized, underlined, at a moment when all must have learnt much in the hard school of adversity, the immutable truth of economic law, which, briefly stated, is that, in proportion as the free flow of commerce is blocked, the production of the nations will be restricted and the recovery of their prosperity effectively impeded and the peace of the world jeopardized by the strain of economic warfare.

PATERNALISM
The Manitoba Free Press

The people of Canada are to be told what they are to eat; just as they are to be carefully shepherded in the matter of their reading. If they do not obey they are to be fined by means of penalties embodied in the tariff act.

A THOUGHT

Through the tender mercy of our God; whereby the day-spring from on high hath visited us.—St. Luke 1:78. God's mercy is a holy mercy, which knows how to punish sin, not to protect it; it is a sanctuary for the penitent, not for the presumptuous.—Bishop Reynolds.

Loose Ends

Some real help for Mr. Hinchliffe who needs it—the spirit of 1931—and the highest form of public service.

By H. B. V.

MINISTER OF EDUCATION HINC hcliffe, I see by the papers, has been making pleasant addresses to various schools at their closing exercises—pure and saccharine words of comfort and inspiration to the children as they prepare to go forth into the world. I should like to help Mr. Hinchliffe in this great and good work by writing one of his speeches for him but alas, I fear he would never dare to deliver it. The speech I should write would be far too true to be polite or polite to be true. I should like Mr. Hinchliffe to say to the children: "You are going to the world which is about as scary a trick on the world as it is on you; but still, as you are so costly to us in school we are glad to see the last of you anyway, and we hope you will go elsewhere and not to unemployment about here. You enter the world well trained and a mess of it. We have given you a smattering of mathematics, sufficient to enable you to read stock quotations; but not enough to stop you gambling on margin. We have provided you with a confirmed hatred of good literature by cramming the fullest works in the language down your throats. We have taught you enough science to make you sceptical of anything not visible in the laboratory without indicating to you any sense or meaning in the universe. We have developed in you such an appreciation of the arts that you will gratify your love of music and the drama, in canned form, at the movies."

WE HAVE taught you ancient history but avoided any reference to current problems because it is not good form to discuss anything on which men disagree, and besides it would make trouble for us. We have equipped you with a general knowledge of nothing in particular, or any idea how you are going to make a living. In short, we have made you like ourselves, and may God forgive us. Boys and girls, we hope you will survive the world in these splendid times; but we have grave doubts that the world will long survive you. We shall close with the National Anthem and three cheers for modern education."

IN A RECENT cartoon, a Vancouver paper pictured the Spirit of 1919 and the Spirit of 1931. The first picture, of the Spirit of 1919, showed a company of Allied soldiers boldly charging against a monstrous, mailed figure of war. The second picture of the Spirit of 1931, showed a group of civilians running, terrified, away from a tiny, anemic-looking little figure which was supposed to represent the current industrial depression. There was a lot of truth in these pictures. Historians, who will not understand us will find it difficult to explain how a race which was so willing to give its best lives in the war a few years ago, is unwilling to spend its money now to end the depression, a much more useful enterprise. Historians will wonder how a generation of Canadians who spent about two billions to defend foreign frontiers argues endlessly between federal, provincial and municipal governments, about spending a few millions to defend homes in this country from want; how a generation which has sacrificed the lives of its best manhood not long since to its wealth, is so desperately that, by a process of exquisite logic, it is making itself poor. And most amazing of all, history will find that even the men who were quite willing to give their own lives in the war and many who did give their lives are as terrified by the present situation, and as unwilling to spend their money to relieve it, as anybody.

PROBABLY IT is because we were organized for war, as we are not organized for peace. A man felt he was actually contributing something to the world when he put his life in the hands of the government during the war. Now he can see no tangible result for the expenditure of his money. And at this very moment, as if to emphasize this fact, to rub it in, a commission of Congress is busy shaping a plan for preparing the United States in case of future war when, with 6,000,000 unemployed, it is obviously unprepared for the present peace. In war, of course, anything which looks like victory is allowed. In peace you don't talk about organizing anything or you will be accused of talking party politics or being a dangerous Socialist.

DEAN GEORGE W. MULLINS of Barnard College, somewhere in the United States, made an interesting suggestion to the girl graduates of that institution the other day. He said that if the girls did not need work to support themselves, even though they had been trained for special work, "the greatest service that you can render to the community and to the nation at this time, when countless thousands are out of work, is to have the courage to refuse work." The soundest and most reasonable advice at a time like this and might be taken to heart out in these parts, where many girls who could live quite comfortably at home are holding jobs which other girls need to earn a living.

JUST THE SAME, while it may be good advice under these conditions, it is the counsel of a despairing civilization. For the proposal is that, having trained girls for higher forms of work by expensive college courses, we should forbid them to do this work in order that persons less qualified may do it. But why stop at girl graduates of universities? In times like these, I suppose no man has a right to keep on working and cluttering up the labor market if he can keep himself without working. Everybody who has a few hundred dollars in the bank should retire for a while, and let someone else have the job. The real public benefactor in these stirring times is the man who refuses to work at all. Not long ago a man thought he was doing something for the world when he produced some new wealth in the form of food, or goods or knowledge. Now-a-days the highest service he can render the state is to go away and die—having, of course, arranged an expensive funeral to provide as much work as possible. But the patriot will refuse to be born at all thus saving the world and himself a lot of trouble.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

The Victoria Daily Times, June 25, 1906 (From The Times File)

Dr. C. J. Fagan, secretary to the Provincial Board of Health, returned on Saturday from an extended visit to the interior. While away he examined sanitary conditions in the new settlements both at Okanagan and Nicola valleys. He reports that these places are making extremely satisfactory progress.

The Victoria Life Saving Association has received from England the main part of its new life saving apparatus, consisting of two rocket throwers, a life ring, and a life buoy, recommended by the central body of the Navy League, and is known as the Schermuller apparatus.

R. Marpole, general superintendent of the Pacific division of the C.P.R., has returned to Vancouver after a trip over the main line and its branches.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Fresh westerly winds continued fine, with not much change in temperature.

There was a large crowd on the C.P.R. wharf, James Bay last night to inspect the newly remodeled steamer, Princess May. When all her electric lights were turned on at night the picture presented by the ship was exceedingly bright and animated.

Bert Levy, the famous cartoonist and correspondent of The New York Morning Telegraph, opens a week's engagement at the New Grand Theatre this evening.

NEXT

To the Editor—Now, the next thing for the Tolmie Government to rescind, if it seeks to regain a little public confidence, is Brother Jones's one per cent tax on the earnings of girls and other low income earners. After that, it will find scope for still more rescinding in the $30,000-a-year liquor board.

"SAVE THE CHILDREN"
To the Editor—May I say just a few words on behalf of this fund for the needy children in all parts, or various parts, of the world. It is a fund always before us. Mr. Landsberg is always grateful for any help for it, and I sometimes think that more would give if they felt that small sums were not despised.

Surely there are people passing about the town who would be glad to give their 25c or 50c into the office at 737 Fort Street. Every month something comes in, but very little, and when a child's grave was here in May he told me how long he had to be able to send shoes and stockings for the miners' children in Wales, who went over rough roads in bare feet. It is not only foreign children we are helping, it is British children as well. We are equally ready, I hope, to help all children who need our love and care, and I know well how many we have to help at home, both adults and children, but we can spare something for those other children, too. Only $25 a year keeps one child. If anyone would like to do that, or if any school would like to do so, they have only to give their names to Mr. Landsberg with their gift and they can receive a photograph of the child and hear of his or her welfare.

Sir Philip Gibbs says: "The work of the 'Save the Children Fund' must not come to an end. It will never be finished until we have created the Kingdom of Heaven on earth. It must never stop. The children of the world are in the hands of those who are in the hands of the 'Declaration of Geneva' the Magna Charta of the children of the world."

CAROLINE MACKLEM, 1040 Linden Avenue, June 24, 1931.

ENGLAND AND MUNICIPAL AIRPORTS

To the Editor—The following extracts from an article in that reliable paper, The Airways, may be of interest to your readers. Victoria ratepayers in particular might note these statements: "Many able authorities emphasized that airports are essentially municipal enterprises, providing similar facilities to those afforded by roads and bridges. They are in effect the natural harbors of a town, equally important to the welfare of every modern township as a seaport to a coastal town."

The article goes on: "No less than 170 municipalities are now actively concerned in the provision of their own airports. "The municipalities whose enterprise has thus put them ahead of their rival townships are (amongst others) Bristol, Hull, Liverpool and Plymouth." Note that all these are on the sea. "Twelve towns have reserved airport sites in their town-planning schemes. Eighteen other towns whose names it is not advisable to mention, lest premature publicity should prejudice their negotiations, are at present engaged in the purchase of airport sites. "An aerodrome site acquired now within convenient distance of the town, can be purchased at a very low price which, in a very few years of development, will show a very handsome return on the capital invested."

The debt and unemployment burdens of English towns are far greater than those of Victoria, but do not frighten them. With our lesser problems frighten us?

WOODSHED MEMORIES

To the Editor—Re The Times editorial on the passing of the day. How are the morals and the conduct of the rising generation reflecting the passing of the woodshed? Alas, for the disappearance of the court of last resort of desperate male parents! Where to-day can the prankster boy receive well-earned castigations which Holy Writ records the wise Solomon as having prescribed? I fear we shall rue the day we allowed the woodshed to disappear. LIQUOR BOARD SAVING MONEY, POOLEY SAYS

Three-man Plan Justified By Economies, Says Attorney-General

Hon. J. W. Jones Talks Finances at Esquimalt Conservative Meeting

Defending his liquor administration policy from attacks being made on it by A. M. Manson, K.C., and others, Attorney-General Pooley, at the Esquimalt Conservative Association last evening, went back to the days of Andy Blyth, he said, was a detective employed by Mr. Manson a number of years ago. Mr. Pooley said $14,000 had been appropriated on Mr. Blyth's work, under authority to check up on government stores, but the reports which he had obtained when he came into office told of the good work Mr. Blyth as detective was doing in the Royal Commission investigating liquor matters.

The reports, Mr. Pooley said, explained that by this means the men did not tell the commission how much had been paid for obtaining beer licenses in Vancouver. There were certain reference as to the "diplomatic work" done to get liquor out of the police station and back to the bootlegger.

NEW BOARD BUSINESS MEN
Mr. Pooley declared that as long as he was at the head of the department, there would be no such incidents. He said the three men now at the head of the Liquor Control Board were appointed on account of their business ability and could be depended upon to carry on the work with credit.

"These men run the department and I accept responsibility if it is not done properly," Mr. Pooley went on. "I am not passing the buck. These men have saved their salaries many times over."

As an instance of this, the Attorney-General said the Liberals had carried insurance on the liquor stocks at an annual premium of $27,000, while the Conservative government came into office it decided to drop the insurance and carry the risk themselves. Later, a company offered to carry the insurance at a premium of $12,938, of a saving of $14,000 over the cost to the former government.

TO ALL UNEMPLOYMENT
Savings had also been effected to the amount of $1,200 a month by pooling liquor shipments to various parts of the province. Three thousand dollars a month had also been saved on breakages, he continued, and a total of $300,000 a year on beer handling.

As for unemployment, Mr. Pooley said the government was doing everything possible, and had public works planned and awaiting the return to Ottawa of Senator Glenora Robson, Minister of Labor, who would announce how far the Dominion Government was prepared to go before announcing the details of the policy.

ENDORSED BY PUBLIC

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, said that in spite of the assaults of opposition leader T. D. Pattullo, on the Tolmie Government as a bad administration, the government had won four by-elections when the public went to the polls during the last few months to express their opinion of the Tolmie Government. He said that three of the by-elections were won by acclamation, and in only one did Mr. Pattullo face a vote. He said that in North Vancouver, a riding accustomed to going Liberal, but which this time returned a Tolmie representative. Mr. Jones said that when the Tolmie Government came into power, it did not know how bad things were, with $22,000,000 of refunding indebtedness to be taken care of and $3,000,000 of a shortage in expenditures which had to be faced. There was also the condition, he said, wherein the Liberal Government had used up all the revenues for the year by August, and $3,500,000 had to be raised to take care of over-commitments by that government. Together, he figured, this put the Tolmie Government face to face with the necessity of raising $33,000,000.

LEGACY OF EXTRAVAGANCE
As for Mr. Pattullo, Mr. Jones said that when he came into office at 35,000 acres of reverted lands in the province, when he went out there were 2,554,000, the increase being due to his policies. He estimated, represented a loss of $10,000,000 a year in taxes.

Mr. Jones declared the Liberal Government had been extravagant in land settlement schemes, which turned out to be bills of expense. There were also social expenditures, which have been mounting year by year, with no one to call a halt. He said that to meet its liabilities now money had to be found by raising taxes and putting on the one per cent tax, which he believed to be the most equitable.

The meeting passed votes of confidence in Premier Tolmie and in Mr. Pooley as member for the district.

$50,000 SUIT FOLLOWS WRECK

Los Angeles, June 25.—A suit for $50,000 as a result of the wreck of the coastwise passenger steamer Harvard on May 30, declaring the belief certain of the officers were under the influence of intoxicating liquors, was filed here yesterday by Bess Delaney, a passenger on the vessel, against the Los Angeles Steamship Company, operator of the liner.

She alleges she lost a $3,500 wardrobe, a miniature Bible 100 years old, other antiques and a collection of coins dating back to 1774. The property is valued by the complaint at $10,000, and an additional $40,000 is demanded for personal injuries assertedly suffered between the time the ship went aground off Point Arguello until the passengers were picked up by the United States cruiser Louisville.

AIRPORT PLAN DENOUNCED AT RALLY MEETING

Frank Higgins, K.C., Attacks
Civic Borrowings at Ratepayers' Association Meeting

Transportation Companies
Should Provide Own Landing
Fields, Says Frank LeRoy

Nearly three hundred men and women yesterday evening attended the rally of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, held at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, with Frank LeRoy in the chair. The meeting was called to further opposition to the airport and street repair by-laws to be voted upon next Monday.

W. C. Warner, vice-president of the Ratepayers' Association, said the city owed $15,000,000, over one-third the taxes paid being absorbed by debt charges. He was critical of the paving by-laws as beyond the ability of the people to afford. While in some instances the projects were meritorious, practically all the resurfacing could be postponed, if expenditures were limited to necessary repairs.

Mr. Warner said non-voters were in effect supporting the by-laws, and appealed for a strong turnout on Monday. Frank Higgins, K.C., said submission of the by-laws brought Victoria face to face with a world-wide problem deeper than the question of street paving or airports. "The question is, do we want to load ourselves up with more debt? Are we Victorians willing to join up with the rest of the world and oppose further debt burdens? Will we join in the universal movement for reduction of debt? The world is at last aroused to this matter," he said amid applause.

"It is wrong to say our taxation is caused by the Great War. It is caused by bad government," Mr. Higgins protested, declaring that in England and the United States local clubs of ratepayers were becoming actively instigated for debt reduction.

Mr. Higgins said public officials could see no way to pare expenses. Two years ago business firms took the same view, but those which had not cut costs had become bankrupt. He believed that public officials would have to comply with the public's demand for economy in order to retain their offices.

PAID OVER AND OVER

"It is no use saying a new tax only adds one-third of a mill to the levy. The citizen pays it in everything he buys—clothes, food, transportation or amusement. All pay that one-third mill, and either pass it along or cut wages, which reduces money in circulation and again comes back to the ratepayers," he said.

Mr. Higgins quoted a New York financial journal as authority for stating Victoria already had the highest per capita bonded indebtedness of any city in Canada. He reviewed the street paving of the Morley era, construction of the double bridge, on Johnson Street under Mayor Porter, the establishment of the Royal Oak Cemetery under Mayor Hayward, and the building of an elevator, a cold storage, a woolen mill, and buying the Esquimalt waterworks under Mayor Pendry. "Now we have the Anacomb administration coming along with an airport scheme. When are we going to come to the end of these things?" he asked.

Mr. Higgins believed the various undertakings to be traceable to promotion activities by bond dealers, real estate operators and railway interests. He considered the expropriation of the Esquimalt waterworks to be "the greatest plunder scheme ever put across on the people of Victoria," and asserted J. A. Sayward had sworn that $25,000 had been paid as a commission.

VALUES DOUBLED
He declared that the proposed site of the airport was to be purchased for double the sworn values shown by land registry records. He believed the disastrous experience of Halifax, Nova Scotia, would be duplicated if Victoria undertook development of an airport. He stated that Detroit had overwhelmingly defeated an airport improvement loan by-law. As a centre of the airplane industry, the citizens had realized that flying was in its infancy, and liable to fundamental changes.

"The grain is not coming to the elevator, the fish are not coming to the cold storage, the wool does not come from the farmers to the woolen mill, and the planes are not coming to the flying field! But, the tax bills for the bonds come regularly every year," Mr. Higgins declared.

"We must keep a tight hold on these municipal officials; we must compel them to keep their expenditures within their income. The Canadian Pacific has cut salaries from the president down. Alderman R. T. Williams showed our council the way, but they will not do it. We must get back control of our public bodies. The British system is based on democracy; we have not got to-day; we must get back control. If we do not do so this burden is going to overcome us and destroy us." Mr. Higgins concluded amid rounds of applause.

CLAIMS CREDIT

"We are going to pay 42 mills this year, and if it had not been for the Ratepayers' Association and the fuss they made, we would have been taxed six or seven mills more," said Mr. Le Roy. He explained that the series of meetings had been called with the specific objective of defeating the loan by-law, and declared the Ratepayers' Association had received scant courtesy from the city council. Mr. Le Roy contended that the transportation companies should provide their own landing fields for airplanes, and pointed to the announcement of services to Victoria by the transcontinental railways.

Money required for relief of unemployment should be obtained legitimately, not by camouflage, he declared.

Other speakers opposing the by-laws were Mrs. Crocker and Capt. Burges Gauden.

Langford Women's Institute Work

Langford, June 25.—The monthly meeting of the Langford Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the hall on Dunford Road. The meeting decided to renew the insurance on the hall furniture for the next three years. An invitation was read by the secretary, Mrs. Percy N. Welch, from the directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, inviting members to be present at their annual meeting on Friday, June 26. A report was read of the South Vancouver Island district board meeting. A discussion on a "Disarmament Petition," sent from Ottawa, concluded in the majority of the members declining to sign it, owing to its impracticability. The institute decided to enter a collection of needlework and a floral display at the annual fair in Victoria. A communication was read from Dr. C. Waco, expressing his regret at not being able to open the garden fête on July 4. E. W. White of the Department of Agriculture will judge the flower and vegetable exhibits.

It was decided to obtain 200 award cards for successful exhibitors.

The usual jam and bottled fruit shower for the inmates of the Solarium was settled for the September meeting. The following conveners were appointed for the garden fête: Miss Savory, flower and vegetable exhibit; Mrs. E. H. Phillips and helper, home cooking stall; health exhibit, Miss H. O. Kelly; candy stall and soft drinks, Mrs. J. E. MacDonald; ice cream, Mrs. J. M. Ritchie and Mrs. George Alkman; fish pond, Girl Guides; competitions, Mrs. H. A. Hincks; afternoon tea, Mrs. W. T. Dixon and helper; miniature golf, Scotch dancing and tea-cup reading will be additional attractions. The convener of home economics, Mrs. Welch, introduced R. A. Perrin, who gave an interesting talk on food values and the saving of labor by vapor cooking in aluminum containers. Meat and vegetables cooked by this new method were served to the members at tea, all being satisfied with the novel idea. Mrs. Welch was the tea hostess. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Perrin.

JUBILEE W.A. HAD BUSY YEAR

Hospital Auxiliary Accomplished Much; Mrs. W. A. Chambers New President

The expenditure of $800 in the redecoration of the old surgical ward and the purchase of four hospital beds were the major accomplishments of the Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital last year, according to the reports presented at the annual meeting held at the nurses' home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. J. Collison, the retiring president, was in the chair.

SATISFACTORY REPORTS
The report of the president and the secretary, Miss M. Currie, showed that other activities with which the ladies helped were the nurses' graduation exercises held in May, when each nurse was presented by the auxiliary with a bouquet, and the auxiliary also assisted with refreshments at the graduation dance.

The report of the sewing committee, given by Mrs. Crimp, showed that there had been twenty sewing meetings, and a total of $1,514 in expenditure for materials, etc. The total number of finished articles made at the meetings was 824.

The auxiliary at the present time has a total membership of 983, and the recently completed membership campaign resulted in $535 being collected in dues, according to the financial statement read by Mrs. J. Vaughan Roberts, the treasurer.

OFFICERS ELECTED
The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. W. A. Chambers; first vice-president, Mrs. Hermann Robertson; second vice-president, Mrs. E. H. Griffiths; third vice-president, Mrs. Unsworth; treasurer, Mrs. Vaughan Roberts; secretary, Miss Currie; membership committee convenor, Mrs. Pitheman. Mrs. Chambers, the new president, is a graduate of the Jubilee, and is the first to become president of the W.A.

The retiring officers were heartily thanked for their untiring services, and Mrs. Collison was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

JUNIORS THANKED
A special vote of thanks was also passed to the Junior Auxiliary, which had given yeoman assistance during the year in connection with the children's ward.

Captain George McGregor, chairman of the hospital board, addressed the meeting briefly, thanking the members for their great assistance, and after the formal proceedings Miss Mitchell entertained the members at tea.

Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter.—A special meeting of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter was held at the home of Mrs. Ellis on Tuesday. Final arrangements were made for Alexander Rose Day and a donation made to the Milk Fund of the Sunshine Camp.

St. Joseph's W.A.—The Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital will hold their annual business meeting and election of officers on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the sewing room at the hospital. All members are requested to attend.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Successful Methods in Troublesome Situations
I always enjoy hearing when advice works, especially when it would seem that the mother had used it as a last resort after first trying those methods hallowed by tradition. I feel that good work might be done toward saving that traditional discipline, "a good spanking," by counting the number of mothers who write me after that method has failed and say, "I spanked, and punished and it did no good." That is getting to be almost a classic phrase.

Mrs. C. tells me that she had the usual trouble with three-year-old daughter. First she was well-trained and for no apparent reason she dropped all her good habits. "She kept on getting worse," said Mrs. C., "until she would avoid me and run outdoors and wet her pants. She would tell me she hadn't done it while she was in the very act. I spanked and punished her in every way I could think of, and finally I realized that it wasn't doing any good. So I decided to try the way you suggested in your leaflet on re-training to good toilet habits. I prepared a special place for her toilet chair. Every hour I took her there.

IGNORED ACCIDENTS
"Once a little neighbor boy asked his mother in front of my daughter, and this impressed her and she ran to ask me, too. I praised her for this. I stopped warning her not to be bad, and merely told her when she was good. In about a week, Mrs. Eldred, she was entirely trained again. I felt that the leaflet helped me greatly and I wanted to tell you about it. I feel, as you say, that if mothers used more 'do this' and less 'don't do that,' they would succeed more quickly."

That letter reads like a testimonial, but at least it is another blow at the fiction that any miracles are accomplished by punishment and for that reason I am glad to print it.

Mrs. W. H. has been successful in removing one of the bugaboos of the dinner table, the desire of children to avoid the less flavorful foods in favor of the sweet ones. She writes: "I agree heartily with you when you say you deplore the usual tactics of parents in offering desserts as rewards for eating 'beans.' I have been successful in working the thing another way, and that is by making dessert a natural consequence rather than a reward."

"For instance, when I see the child playing with her vegetables or milk I decide that her tummy does not crave food, and therefore why put sweets into it? My three daughters, four, six and eight, are appealed to by the reasoning that if you don't want your vegetables of course you don't want your dessert. It works so well that now when the child isn't interested in her vegetables she volunteers voluntarily: 'Mother, save my dessert for me, because I can't eat my baked potato.'"

Unemployed Men's Children Show Decline in Health

Montreal, Que., June 25.—Effect of the economic depression on the children of unemployed men was revealed yesterday by the health service of financial federation, conducted by the Child Welfare Association. Ninety per cent of the children, who are being examined at the rate of 200 a week, are under weight. Miss Esther Beth, R.N., director of the Child Welfare Association, stated.

One child was found to weigh twenty-four pounds less than normal. Lack of nutritious food has also caused dental decay and clinics conducted by the association are busy doing what they can to halt the rot. A youngster of thirteen had to have her entire upper row of teeth extracted, Miss Beth said.

CHILD WEDDING IS ANNULLED

Supreme Court Dissolves Marriage of Chinese Bride Bought For $600

Vancouver, June 25.—Ties of marriage which bound Nip Chun Lin, twenty-year-old Chinese girl, to Ung Ching Hoy five years ago, when she was only fifteen, were found to be ropes of sand by Mr. Justice Fisher, in Supreme Court yesterday afternoon, when he declared the marriage null and void, on the ground that the girl had been acting under duress on the part of her father, Jim Kee, when she went through the marriage form.

Suing for divorce from her husband, Nip Chun Lin had alleged on the witness stand that she had been sold by her parents to her future husband for $600, according to age-old Chinese custom.

A point His Lordship made in his judgment was that Jim Kee and his wife, Annie Kee, had, on February 28, 1926, made a declaration of consent, in which they stated their daughter to be eighteen years old.

According to the Marriage Act, he pointed out, no licence could be issued when one of the parties was under the age of sixteen. "I don't know whether I am at liberty to do so," His Lordship commented, "but one might suggest, at least where the parties might appear to be under the age of eighteen, that birth certificates might be required before granting of the license."

Why risk unknown substitutes when you know Kotex is safe

Sanitary protection must be made with strictest care, like Kotex, to protect health in every way.

KOTEX IS SAFE...
1. Can be worn on either side with equal comfort. No embarrassment.
2. Kotex is soft... Not merely an apparent softness, that soon fades into chafing hardness, but a delicate, lasting softness.
3. The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in Canada's leading hospitals.
4. Disposable, instantly, completely.

Surprisingly comfortable
After all, why take a chance? Kotex is available everywhere, and offers every advantage of comfort as well as safety. It's shaped to fit. Soft—and the softness lasts, because laminated layers of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorb wadding distribute moisture scientifically. The gauze, too, in Kotex is specially treated to make it amazingly soft. Kotex is treated to deodorize. Adjustable to individual needs.

But how about substitutes?
How is one to know about nameless substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? How are they made? Where? What assurance have you of their fitness for this purpose? You have a right to know—these questions vitally concern your health. Accept no sanitary protection that cannot answer them to your satisfaction, and guarantee your safety.

English Footballers Delight Large Crowd With Brilliant Play

THE Tricky Tourists Defeat Victoria 7-0 Under Wraps

Not a Single Champion Defends Tennis Title at Wimbledon

Babe Ruth Hopes to Hit His Six-hundredth Home Run This Year

Walter Hagen Fading From Golf Picture While Armour Comes Ahead

Johnny Risko Had Great Chance to Become Heavy-weight Champion

AN UNUSUAL feature of the British tennis championships now being played at the massive Wimbledon Stadium is that none of last year's champions are defending their laurels. Bill Tilden, the men's singles winner of last year, is now a professional, and ineligible, while Mrs. Helen Wills Moody decided not to make the trip to defend the women's singles title. Miss Elizabeth Ryan, England, who holds the women's doubles title, paired with Mrs. Moody, and the mixed doubles championship with Jack Crawford, Australia, is another absentee, having recently injured her leg. The men's doubles title was won by John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, but this year only the former is playing, Allison remaining in the United States.

On the play to date it looks as if it may be an all-British final this year in the men's singles. "Bunny" Austin and J. Lee, number one and two ranked English players, are turning in brilliant exhibitions and look like a hard combination to beat. Yesterday they both advanced to the third round, Lee turning in a rather easy victory over George Lott, United States Davis Cup star. The biggest foreign menace of the tournament has passed from the running in the person of Henri Cochet of France, ranked number one in the world.

Babe Ruth, home run hitter par excellence, hopes to reach the six hundred mark this season and pole out a hundred more before he passes on to some other role. Ruth admits he won't break any home run records this season, but figures he will be one of the year's leading hitters. He has changed his style, and states that a hitter is a hitter no matter where or when performing, and his ambition is to lead the American League in batting.

It will be a day for baseball when the boyish Ruth has to put up his glove and shoes. It has to come in a few years, as Ruth is not exempt from Father Time more than anyone else. When that day comes, baseball moguls will no doubt try to hold him in the game in some prominent role, as he is to present-day baseball what Mathewson was to the game a few years back.

One of golf's mysteries is the fall of Walter Hagen, who seems to have lost the form that baffled opponents only a few years ago. He has lost his putting touch and unless he makes a comeback in the Ryder Cup matches between the United States and England, opening Friday at Columbus, Ohio, experts and critics will be ready to write him out of the first flight, where he remains on the playing field of old-time successes rather than recent performances. Tommy Armour is now getting a higher rating, which he is certainly entitled to, for his style, his mastery over physical handicaps, and his general all-round play have won him a following. The phrase "The Black Scott" has caught the popular golfing fancy.

Before Max Schmeling and Willie Strickling square off July 3 in Cleveland for the heavyweight championship of the world, a young man with reddish blond hair will crawl through the ropes to battle in the semi-windup.

The young man's name? Johnny Risko.

Well, Johnny Risko is the man who was "almost heavyweight champion of the world." That's what he was, Tunney preferred Hagen.

In the years ago, Madison Square Garden offered to "hold" the title of Risko and build him into a champion. That is if he defeated Victorio Campolo. He did beat Campolo, decisively, but before he could fight the champion, he was sent to Miami—a draw. The return bout Risko refused to train.

"Aw, I can lick that big fellow," he told his manager, little Danny Dunn. "Why should I train?"

Campolo then beat him. Oddly, Risko won the decision. But his showing was so poor that the Garden promoters threw up their hands. Disgusted. There went his chance.

There was another time. For seven rounds he beat Schmeling. Foolishly then he disobeyed his instructions, got careless and took one of the chin. That led to several more. In a minute or so he was finished. Of course he stayed "in there." Risko never knew how to quit, but the referee stopped it.

Women's Canadian Track and Field Meet Aug. 11-12

Large Crowd Thrilled With Fine Exhibition Given by Tourists at Royal Athletic Park Yesterday Evening; Victoria "Reps" Work Hard But Never Looked Like Scoring; Shrimpton and Wagland Outstanding; Cookson, Alexander and Bowden Share Scoring Honors.

Four thousand Victorians who wended their way to the Royal Athletic Park yesterday evening witnessed the finest exhibition of football ever given on a local pitch when the touring English Football Association players defeated the Victoria "rep" eleven 7 to 0. The Englishmen showed just how the game should be played and the large crowd enjoyed every minute of the match. Victoria never looked like scoring. The home players tried hard, but they were completely outclassed, as was to be expected.

The visitors certainly lived up to their reputation of being the finest team that has ever visited Canada. Their short passing was a treat to watch. During the ninety minutes of play they showed a perfect understanding with their feet and heads, and every play brought much applause from the sidelines. The Englishmen proved masters at footwork, headwork, ball control and everything else that goes to make up a first-class footballer. The combination play of the English forwards and halves was uncanny at times. The ball would swing from one to another with great speed, yet they never seemed to look where they were kicking. It was all a matter of training. They passed the ball with the knowledge their teammates would be in position to receive. And seldom did their passes go astray.

Another feature of the visitors' play was their wonderful ability to recover. If they lost the ball or made a mistake they would regain the ball or block the opposing play with apparently little effort. The visitors were never pressed at any stage and saved themselves a great deal of work by outguessing the Victoria players time and time again.

HIBBS HAS LITTLE TO DO

Victoria never looked good enough to score and Hibbs, England's famous international goalkeeper, was the least worked player on the field. He had only four shots to block the whole game, and none of them extended him.

Of the seven goals scored by the visitors, Hibbs was responsible for three. Alexander, at outside-right, got three; Bowden, at inside-right, one; while the right-back, who drove the ball into his own net to give the visitors their opening goal.

There was no outstanding player on the English team every member turning in an excellent performance. Each man figured in the various plays, and there was no sign of selfishness by any of the players. On the Victoria team the back division was outstanding. The local forwards, outside of Mike Wagland, at inside-left, were completely outclassed. Hibbs, Alexander and Percy Shrimpton, in goal, were the outstanding players on the line-up. Shrimpton more than justified his selection, and if it had not been for his stellar work the score would have been higher. All the seven shots that beat him were real goals and gave him no chance to block.

VISITORS WELL RECEIVED

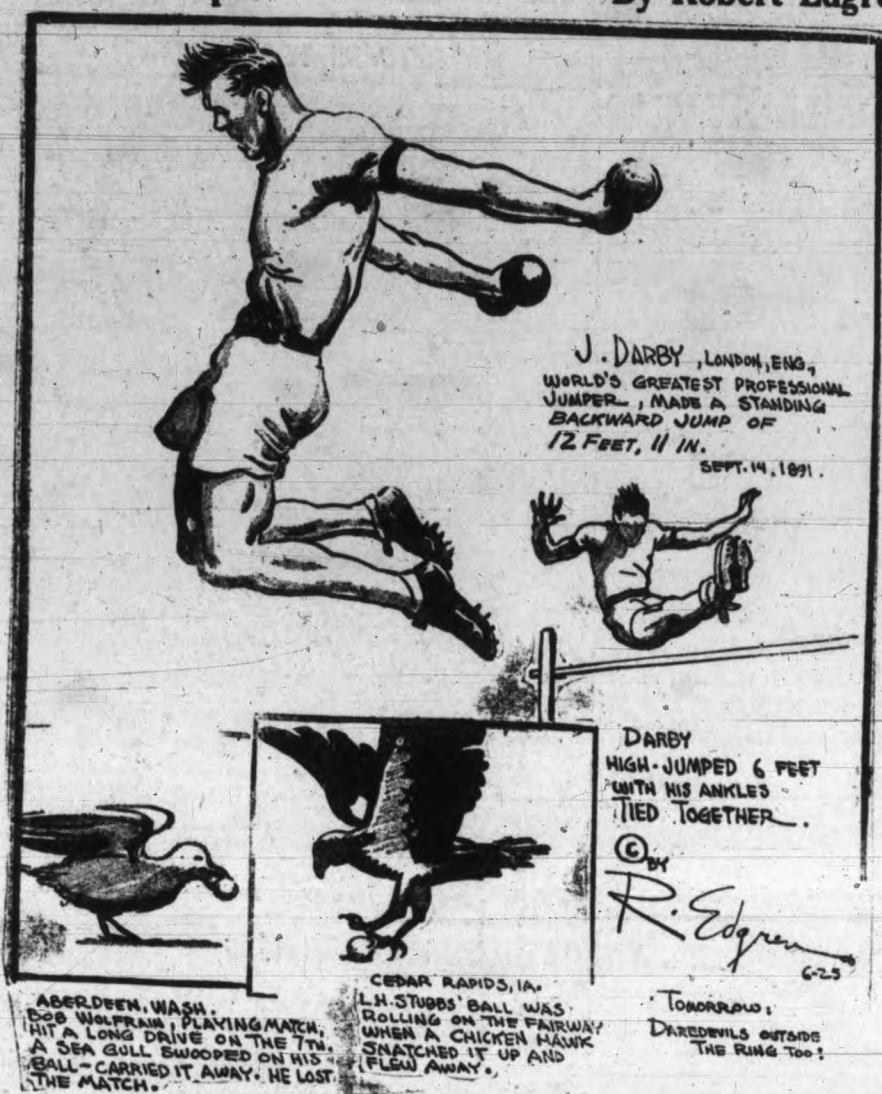

The Englishmen were the first to come to the stadium, and a big band from the crowd. The Victoria eleven followed and proceeded to warm up in preparation for the match. Before the kick-off the players of both teams were introduced to Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, and Mayor Ansonby, by Alderman James Adam. Before the game began, the Victoria eleven followed and proceeded to warm up in preparation for the match. Before the kick-off the players of both teams were introduced to Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, and Mayor Ansonby, by Alderman James Adam.

At this stage the ball became greasy and hard to handle. Even the English players, expert as they were, found it hard to control the slippery piskin. The players also found it difficult to hold their feet on the grassy surface at the west end of the field. There was much slipping around and misdirection on both sides. Mulcahy was pulled up for offside on a pass from Peers. Cookson was through himself after some pretty footwork, but his shot was wide. Shrimpton threw himself across the goal to block Alexander's drive and Cookson headed the outside right's corner kick over the bar. Mulcahy got in a fine centre that was wasted when there was nobody there to get it.

ENGLISH TEAM IS BANQUETED

Greeted With Enthusiasm at Affair Arranged By Lower Island Footballers

An enthusiastic reception was given the visiting English footballers at the Lower Island Football Association's banquet in their honor at the Elks' Club yesterday evening. Close to a hundred local players and followers of the game attended, and got much pleasure in renewing old acquaintanceships and associating with representatives of their old home towns in England.

Grouped around C. V. Milton, president of the L.I.F.A., the head table were Wreford Brown and C. Huband, joint managers of the visitors; John Russell, president of the Dominion Football Association; Sam Davidson, secretary of the Dominion Football Association; Mayor Ansonby, Alderman James Adam, J. Petticrew, vice-president of the L.I.F.A., and Jack Sullivan, Fred Abrahamson and J. Ewing, all representatives of the L.I.F.A., and J. R. Jones, secretary of the L.I.F.A.

Mr. Milton, the chairman, in proposing a toast to the English Football Association, spoke of the success of yesterday's game had been to Victorians, and assured the visitors that people here were close followers of the old country matches.

CANADA IMPROVING

In responding, Wreford Brown said his first visit to Canada was in 1906, and he was glad to report great strides had been made in the Dominion since that time, especially in the development of native talent. After remarking on the visiting team was practically the pick of England, Mr. Brown considered the showing of the locals had been highly creditable. The speaker made several comments on football around 1881—when he first started playing—and noted the various changes since that time.

Before the conclusion of the banquet Mayor Ansonby also spoke a few words, and the evening was a presentation to local football teams of cups won during the last year. The presentation was made by the Victoria eleven followed and proceeded to warm up in preparation for the match. Before the kick-off the players of both teams were introduced to Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, and Mayor Ansonby, by Alderman James Adam.

Laverne Fator Boots Home His 1,000th Winner

New York, June 25.—Laverne Fator, generally rated as America's premier jockey, achieved his life's ambition yesterday when he booted his 1,000th winner down past the judges' stand in the third race at Aqueduct.

Astride E. R. Bradley's Blind Bowboy, the little veteran who came out of Idaho fifteen years ago to show the "big timers" a thing or two about riding, drove past the finish line amid such applause as is seldom heard at a metropolitan race track. He came close to exceeding his cherished aim in the fifth race, ometer.

During his turf career, Fator has had 4,360 winners of which he won with 1,000 placed second with 750, third with 640 and went unplaced with only 1,978. Only three times in the last twelve years has he been the leading rider of any year shown a higher percentage.

CROCKER IN GREAT FORM

Former Canadian Davis Cup Star Surprises By Victory Over Walter Martin

Montreal, June 25.—Return to form of one of Canada's greatest tennis players, Willard F. Crocker, member of several Davis Cup teams, featured the Quebec tennis championships here yesterday. In the quarter-finals, Crocker met and overcame Walter Martin, Regina student at University of Toronto, in the greatest upset of the day.

Following his long retirement from competitive tennis, Crocker was not expected to go far and had been seeded seventh to Martin's third. The score was 4-6, 13-11, 6-4. Martin coolly won the first set and reached 5-7 in the second to gain match point, but Crocker uncorked a brilliant streak and brought the set to 8-5. The battle swayed back and forth until it was tied at 10-all and 11-all, when Crocker ran out.

In the semi-final to-day, Crocker faces Dr. Jack Wright, his Davis Cup partner of past years, while in other semi-finals Marcel Rainville, Montreal, meets Bernard Faubert.

Most startling upset in the men's doubles, the quarter-finals of which were run off yesterday, when two youngsters from the Verdun, Que., club, eliminated the strong Toronto team of Martin and W. L. Rennie, by 5-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Major League Ball Games Are Crammed With Snappy Plays

George Watkins, Young Outfielder of St. Louis Cardinals, Gives Outstanding Display in Clouting Three Home Runs in One Game to Tie Major League Record; Cards Win Double-Header from Phillies to Improve National League Lead; Wiley Moore's Pitching Remarkable; Brooklyn Wins Two; Athletics Beaten.

Not many times in the course of a season will major league fans see an afternoon more crammed with sparkling baseball than was served up in yesterday's programme of twelve games. There was a little of everything, including prodigious feats at bat and afield.

Outstanding in the list of the day's achievements was that of George Watkins, right fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, who tied the modern record for home runs in a single game when he parked three outside the limits in the second game of a double header against the Phillies.

Watkins' three blows, one with a man on base, gave the leaders a 4 to 2 victory and a clean sweep for the day. They took the first by the same score when they knocked Ray Benge from the hill in the ninth and scored three runs.

Wiley Moore, veteran Boston Red Sox right fielder, gave the day's second remarkable performance in beating the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 3. So did old Mike Moore have the Indians in hand that not a single chance was handled by the Sox outfielders. Bill Sweeney on first base came within one chance of tying the all-time big league record when he made twenty-one putouts.

A BIG HELP

Watkins' three homers proved a big help to the Cardinals. The double victory at Philadelphia enabled them to increase their lead over the field by a full game as the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs broke even at the post grounds. Carl Hubbell set the Hornsby nine down with two hits and blanked them 2 to 0 in the first game, but Chicago came back to slug out 14 to 10 victory in the ninth. They jumped on Joe Heving and Bill Walker for six runs in the ninth.

The Brooklyn Robins surprised their constituents by taking a pair from Pittsburgh, 6 to 4 and 5 to 3, and running their winning streak to five straight. The double triumph put Brooklyn into the first division for the first time this season, supplanting Boston in fourth place. Mickey Finn's batting proved the deciding factor in both games. Both Shute and Heilmann went the route for the winners.

BRANDT TO SHOWERS

After dropping their third straight to Cincinnati, 8 to 5, the Boston Braves came back to win the second half of a doubleheader, 11 to 6. St. John's pitched his seventh victory of the year for the Reds in the first tilt, his mates knocking fifty Brandt from the hill in the fifth. Tom Zachary stopped Colonel Howley's men in the second, holding them to one hit the first five innings.

The Philadelphia Athletics ran into Wallace Hebert, rookie southpaw, at St. Louis, and took another beating from the Louisiana youngster, this time by a score of 6 to 3. He licked them in the first big league battle of the season. Hebert pitched his sixth straight from the Chicago White Sox blanked until the ninth, when they bunched half of their eight hits.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

SCHMELING IS IN PINK FOR TITLE BATTLE

German Heavyweight Champ Rounds Off Training For Bout With Strickling

Stepped Eight Fast Rounds Yesterday; Strickling Starts His Final Drills

Conneaut Lake Park, Pa., June 15.—Max Schmeling is in condition, both in spirit and body, to fight fifteen rounds at terrific pace when he climbs into the ring in the defence of his title against young Strickling in Cleveland a week from to-morrow night.

The world-heavyweight champion was convinced of this to-day as a result of his eight rounds of sparring yesterday, the longest workout of his training campaign. He was going harder in the last rounds than he did in the first.

Joe Jacobs, the German's manager, said Schmeling is going to go easy and careful to practice the things he wished to perfect.

Geauga Lake, Pa., June 25.—Bill Strickling is going to college next fall to repay southern football for the services he receives daily at his training camp from Lake Russell, head coach at Mercer University in Macon, Ga.

Russell is training the southern challenger for his fifteen-round heavyweight title match with Max Schmeling in the Cleveland Municipal Stadium July 8.

Bill will not study at Mercer next fall but he will return Lake's favor by teaching his football players something of footwork and the straight arm.

"Strickling's left jab," says Russell, "is just about the finest thing in the game. It's a straight arm that could be taught halfbacks and defensive linemen."

The southern prize planned the first of three final boxing drills to-night with Frank Cooney, his new chief sparring partner. Cooney, a staminate of Tommy Loughran, is a challenge to the challenger's punches rather easily in their first work-out Tuesday night.

Preliminaries Are Arranged

Cleveland, June 25.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, will meet Tony Galento, Orange, N.J., in the semi-final following the heavyweight championship bout between Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Strickling at the Cleveland stadium, July 8, fight officials announced yesterday. The semi-final is scheduled to go eight rounds.

All the other preliminaries will go five rounds apiece and will be staged in the following order:

Frankie Simms, Cleveland, versus Jack Dornal, Boston.

George Pavellik, Cleveland, versus Frank Morris, New York.

Frankie Cawley, Pittston, Pa., versus George Panks, Pittsburgh.

Charlie Reddick, Duluth, versus Marty Gallagher, Washington, D.C.

Jack Kearns In Another Action

Chicago, June 25.—Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, faces contempt of court proceedings for alleged failure to pay his wife, Legana, $5,000 in temporary alimony.

A writ to bring him into divorce court was issued yesterday by Judge Daniel P. Trude. He will be asked to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt.

Brooks and Arthur Win Nanaimo Bouts

Carnera to Meet Gorman Instead Of Jack Renault

Toronto, June 25.—Instead of meeting Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, here next Tuesday, Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer, will fight "Bub" Gorman of Kenosha, Wis. Gorman was secured to oppose Carnera following inability of Jack Corcoran, manager of the Queensbury Athletic Club, to come to terms with Renault.

Brynjolfsson Reaches Quarter Finals In P.N.W. Golf

Victoria Champion Defeats Telfer On Thirty-fifth Hole

British Columbia Amateur Titleholder Advances by 2 and 1 Victory Over Berkeley Star; Bob Morrison Drops Gruelling Match to Dr. Willing 1 Up; Bad Tee Shots on Last Two Holes Prove Disastrous; Morrison 2 Up at End of First Round; Johnny Shields Defeats Wilhelm 7 and 6.

Tacoma, June 25.—The gallery was astonished to-day to find only three Portland men competing in the quarter finals of the Pacific Northwest Amateur Golf Tournament.

In the past few years Portland stars have nearly always dominated the final play of northwest tournaments, and to find only three—Dr. O. W. Willing, Frank Dolp and Jimmie Bushong—in to-day's third round was a sight worth seeing by fans of Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and other northwest cities.

Two of the Oregon City's big guns were eliminated yesterday and one Tuesday.

Rudie Wilhelm, medalist in the qualifying round, bowed before Johnny Shields, Seattle, Washington State amateur champion, 7 and 6, and Johnny Robbins, runner up in the finals last year was defeated by Bill Yost, Tacoma, 2 and 1.

Tuesday Portland lost the defending champion, Eddie Hogan, when George Shaw, Los Angeles, ousted him 1 up. Portland still has a chance, however, to take over control of the final match Saturday, with Dr. Willing in the upper bracket and Dolp and Bushong in the lower section.

Willing yesterday barely survived the second round of play when he went four down to Bob Morrison, Victoria. At the fourteenth hole only to battle back to the top and nose out victory 1 up.

BRYNJOLFSSON WINS

Dolp defeated Ray Roberts, Tacoma 6 and 5; Bushong eliminated George Shaw, 3 and 2; Alec Duncan, Seattle, beat Eddie Adams, Seattle, 6 and 5; Freddie Wood, Vancouver, conquered Ed Greenway, Seattle, 6 and 4, and Harold Brynjolfsson, Victoria, ousted Tommy Telfer, Berkeley, 2 and 1.

The Willing-Morrison match was the best of the day with the veteran Portland star having the time of his life getting ahead of the Canadian youngster. Going out for the afternoon round with a two-hole lead, Morrison dropped back all square when he lost the twenty-first and twenty-fourth to Telfer, but managed to go to the front again with a birdie at the thirty-second.

Willing evened the match again at the next hole with a par four, while Morrison was taking three to get on the green. The thirty-fourth was halved in par three, both coming within inches of copping birdies.

MORRISON'S DOWNFALL
The thirty-fifth was Morrison's downfall. He pulled his tee shot into the rough and landed in a trap in his endeavor to reach the green, and Willing rammed down a six-foot putt for a birdie.

The Canadian made a great try for the last hole after sending his tee shot into the rough. He laid on a long iron and dropped his ball on the green four feet beyond the flag. Willing reached the green, but was away first with a twenty-foot putt which he sent past the cup two feet. Morrison lined up his curling four-footer for a win which would have squared the match and sent them to extra holes, but a nervous putter jabbed at the ball and he wasn't even close. They halved the hole in four and victory went to the veteran.

GREAT PUTTING
Shields putted Wilhelm to death sinking ten to fifteen-footers for halves and wins, and the medalist of Monday took his bow at the thirtieth hole.

Leading by two holes at the start of the afternoon round, Robbins dropped the first three in the afternoon to par and was unable to get ahead again in his match with Yost. The Tacoma lad had his putter working like Robbins's.

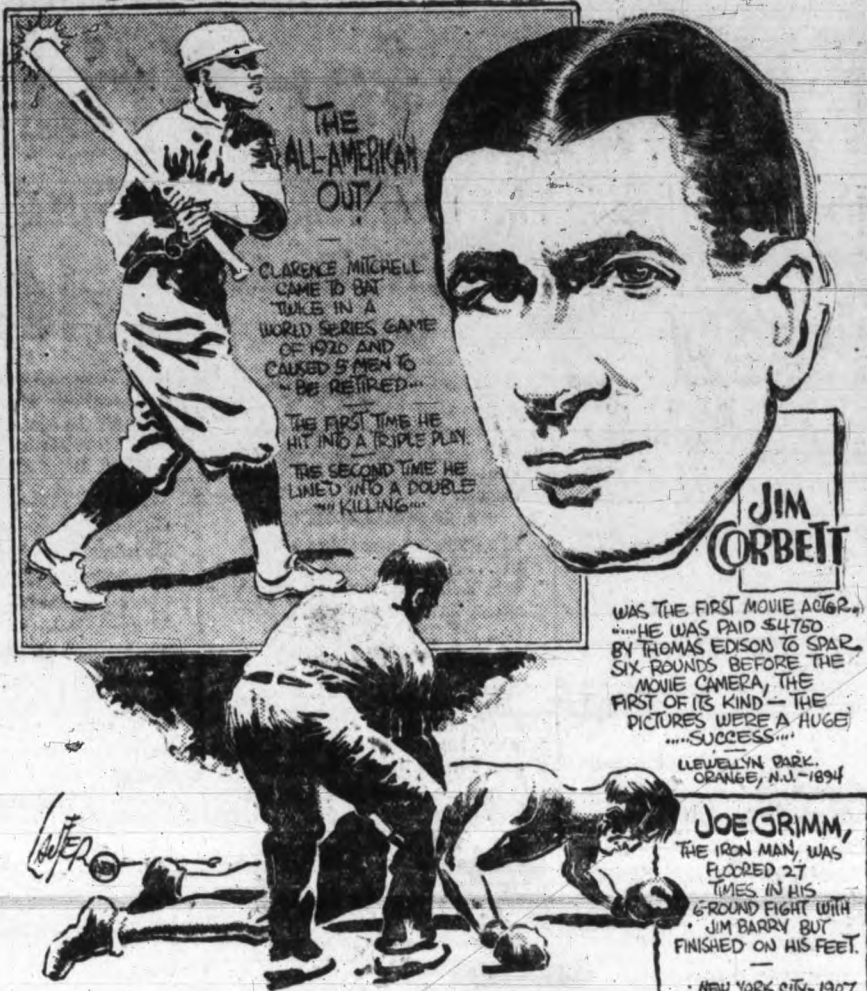

Bushong turned in a surprise victory when he started out in the afternoon 4 down to Shaw and came home with hook, line and sinker. Shaw, conqueror yesterday of Eddie Hogan, Portland, defending champion, blew up badly in the afternoon.

LED ALL THE WAY
Wood led all the way in his match with Greenway, gaining eight holes in the morning eighteen and finishing with six of them. Dolp held on to his six-hole lead, won in the morning, and the former western amateur champion had little trouble eliminating Robert.

Brynjolfsson and Telfer battled closely all the way with the British Columbia amateur titlist winning at the thirty-fifth.

Another upset was turned in when Billy Yost, Tacoma, conquered Robbins, 2 and 1, after the Portland ace had gained a two-hole lead in the morning managed to gain two back before they stopped for lunch, and then squeezed out victory in the afternoon.

ENGLISH FOOTBALLERS DELIGHT LARGE CROWD

A corner kick by Alexander, Victoria, did not have the desired effect. The kick just outside the Englishmen's penalty line for a double kick by Roughton. Gibbons tried to pick a corner but the ball was deflected to the side of the goal. Viggers's corner kick was cleared by Jennings. At this stage Tommy Smith went to outside right for Victoria, and Viggers moved back to the right-half position. Half-time found the Englishmen still leading by 2 to 0.

The English team got down to work with the resumption of play and it could be seen it would not be long before they scored additional goals. Shrimpton pulled the ball off Cookson's foot after the centre-forward had tricked his way through the Victoria defence. The same player was through again right after, only to have Gibbons head the ball into the top corner of the net after Leggett had headed out a centre by Barry. This goal came ten minutes after the teams had returned to the field. From the kick-off Peers and Mulcahy broke away with only Jennings to beat, but the clever full-back threw himself along the ground and booted the ball to the line. Alexander rushed in to score from a rebound. Bowden's shot, three minutes later the same player scored the prettiest goal of the game when he dashed in from right wing, managed to earn a corner off Roughton and Wagland "first timed" Milligan's centre, but Hibbs picked the ball out of the air with little effort.

The Englishmen's seventh goal came from the boot of Cookson on a pass from Bowden, the centre-forward beating Shrimpton with a low shot to the small side of the goal. The final whistle found the touring forwards passing the ball to each other in front of the Victoria goal.

D. McMillan refereed and the lines were handled by Joe Watt, spare Victoria full-back, and Tewkesbury, second goalie of the English team. The Victoria Foremen's Band rendered selections before the game and during the interval.

The teams follow:
England—Hibbs, Jennings, Roughton, Smith, Oliver, McClure, Alexander, Bowden, Cookson, Houghton and Barry.
Victoria—Shrimpton, Joe Crowe, Leggett, Smith, Boyd, Gibbons, Viggers, Milligan, Peers, Wagland and Mulcahy.

CALDER LOSES BOUT TO JONES

Seattle Filipino Drops Eight-rounder at Seattle; Carter Scores K.O.

Seattle, June 25.—Johnny Jones, lanky negro featherweight, scored a close decision over Joe Calder, Seattle Filipino, in the eight-round main event of the fight programme here yesterday evening.

The scrap was fairly even for the first five rounds, until the colored boy opened up in the sixth and scored heavily with smashing rights to the head.

George Kerwin, Chicago welterweight, and Tony Portillo, Seattle, fought to a six-round draw in the semi-final.

Wildcat Carter, Seattle negro lightweight, scored a technical knockout over Sailor Westwell, U.S.S. Tennessean, in the second round of a scheduled six-rounder.

Watching the Majors

After a one-day lapse, Babe Ruth of the Yankees climbed back to the top of the batting heap yesterday by hitting his fifteenth home run of the year, and a single in four times up against the White Sox. Eddie Morgan, Cleveland slugger, dropped back to second place with a mark of 379 when he went hitless in four trips. Charley Grimm of the Cubs took over second place in the National League when he connected safely in three out of seven attempts against the Giants.

With a score of 89 out of a possible 100, Capt. D. Fyvie of the Canadian Scottish headed the midweek shoot at Heals Range yesterday afternoon. Because of the tricky wind and the rain scoring over the 800 and 1,000-yard ranges was low, and the winner's mark was good enough to head the field by three points. Results follow:

COUNT GEORGE ZARYNOFF

WHICH BOLO HEAD HAD BREAKING HEAD LOCKS AS EASY AS ROLLING OFF A

THE RUBBER MAN OF THE MAT

Count George Zarynoff is the real stuff, both in the ring and in name. He saw active service in the army of the Czar, being wounded four different times. When misfortune overtook the family as the result of the Russian revolution, he turned to his old love of wrestling to make a living. He is short and stocky and is of the Bob Fitzsimmons type, and in those legs of his is tremendous strength. The hammerlock is one of the count's favorite holds and once he puts it into operation there is little chance for his opponent to wiggle out of it. But the real high light of the count's build is that he appears to be a middle weight, but on the scale he tips the beam for 200 pounds and would be heavier if he had a little hair on his head. He has made good use of his lack of hair, for any time his opponents attempt to put a headlock on him they are just wasting good time and energy, because he slips out of them like a greased eel. He lets his push and pull opponents put a headlock on him whenever they feel in the humor for it and the manner in which he can bounce out of them has earned him the name of the "Rubber Man of the Mat."

RYDER GOLF TEAMS WILL START PLAY

International Series Between British and U.S. Squads Opens To-morrow

Probable Pairings Announced; Balloon Ball to Get First Real Test

Columbus, Ohio, June 25.—The balloon ball goes up for an international trial to-morrow in one of the biggest golfing shows of 1931—the Ryder Cup matches between teams of home-bred British and United States professionals.

Captain Walter Hagen's forces will carry the United States colors into battle as favorites to win the two-day competition over the rugged layout of the Scioto Country Club.

THE PAIRINGS

The expectation was that Hagen would pair his men in the foursomes as follows: Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel and Al Espinosa, Hagen and Wiffy Cox, Denmore Shute and Billie Burke.

Sarazen, Diegel, Farrell and Hagen are veterans of all the Ryder Cup competitions. Cox, Shute and Burke won places in the home-bred ranks for the first time.

The probable British pairings for to-morrow, based upon the way they looked up in final practice rounds:

Regina Scottish In Soccer Final

Regina, Sask., June 25.—For the third successive season, southern Saskatchewan will be represented in the Connaught Cup playdown by the Regina Scottish. This honor was clinched in the 1931 playdown by the blue-shirted footballers here yesterday evening, when they defeated the Canadian Nationals 2 to 0 in the final and qualified to meet the Saskatoon Thistles here on Saturday night for the right to bear Saskatchewan's standard into the inter-provincial playoffs for the Canadian title.

Jack Johnson Is Well Received In Exhibition Bout

Oakland, Cal., June 25.—Roberto Roberti, 223-pound Italian, made short work of Eddie Jorge yesterday evening when he knocked out the Oakland negro in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

Jorge weighed 213 pounds. Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, boxed a three-round exhibition with Chief White Horse, and brought an ovation from the crowd by his boxing ability. The fifty-three-year-old former titleholder weighed 223 pounds, but stepped around in a speedy manner to make his 190-pound opponent look ridiculous.

Charles Whitcombe and Syd Easterbrook, Abe Mitchell and Fred Robson, Ernest Whitcombe and Bert Hodson, Archie Comston and Billie Davies. One of these pairs may be replaced by Duncan and Arthur Havers, but it appeared likely these two would be reserved for the singles.

GORDON PROMISES IMMIGRATION FREE FROM ALL POLITICS

King Tells Commons Re- forms Needed in Civil Service Commission's Work

Ottawa, June 25.—"So far as this government is concerned in connection with immigration, I hope—and I believe that hope will be realized—that if politics in the past have entered into the question, we have learned our lesson," said Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, in the Commons yesterday.

The mistakes of the past had been made manifest to him in the department, he continued, "and in the future, immigration will be entirely dissociated from politics and will be conducted only in the interests of the country."

"So long as I am in power," the minister continued, "the immigration policy of this country will not be dictated by transportation companies and booking agencies whose interests are governed solely by their pockets."

The House was in committee of supply on the immigration estimates, which were reached in the last hour of the sitting yesterday evening. No item was passed before the House rose at 11 o'clock.

BARNS ARE UP
Replying to a question asked by E. J. Garland, U.F.A., Bow River, Mr. Gordon said that so long as conditions continued as at present in Canada he need not fear the barns would be let down. He did not wish to charge any preceding administrations with delinquency in connection with immigration. The present problem was one of caring for those who had been attached to this country. With regard to this everybody had been a little thoughtless. The minister could not foresee any curtailment of the vote for some years to come. It would have to be maintained for the purpose of supporting the preventive service and the service vested with authority to "survey" those who sought admission.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King thought the control of the Civil Service Commission over the outside service had gone very much too far. There appeared to be some need for reform here with respect to what he thought was a certain amount of patronage within the commission itself. Speaking of his own period in office, Mr. King said he had noticed "that in some way or another some minister seemed to be able to get any number of principal clerks appointed and another minister did not seem able to get any." He wished to see the principle of the commission carried out more in accordance with the will of members of the House of Commons.

BARN AT MOUNT NEWTON STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Mount Newton, June 25.—A barn on the farm of R. E. Caswell, was struck by lightning in the electric storm which occurred here on Tuesday. The barn, which was filled with hay and also various other household goods, was saved from destruction by a cable attached to the hay-carrier, which conducted the lightning to the ground.

One of the supports of the building, a post about three feet in diameter, was split in half and part of the barn floor torn up.

The storm was of very short duration, lasting less than half an hour. Several telephones and radio sets were damaged.

Chemainus

Chemainus, June 24.—A special service was held at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday in St. Michael's and All Angels' Church for members of the Junior Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.L. It was a combined meeting of juniors from Duncan, Westholme and Chemainus. Rev. Eric Robathan officiated, and the order of children's service was used. Fifty-two children and sixteen adults were present.

After the service all went over to the Esch Hall where Mrs. Brooks, secretary-treasurer of the diocesan Junior W.A., gave an interesting address on Junior W.A. work. She advised each branch to choose a flower for an emblem.

Duncan chose the violet, Westholme the dandelion, and Chemainus the pansy. Tea was served on the lawn, where a long table had been arranged with bowls of roses. The tables were arranged by the Misses Kathleen Porter, Dorothy Fraser, Jean Bailey and Irene Fraser. Those who promised transportation from Duncan were: Rev. Arthur Busslinger, Mrs. Greenhigh and Mrs. Birchall and Miss Jean Bailey and Rev. Eric Robathan from Westholme.

The rustic meeting of the northern deanery was held Monday evening in the Anglican Parish Hall, where there was an attendance of over seventy persons, many coming from Nanaimo and Duncan. The Ven. H. A. Collison was in the chair and the Ven. E. P. Laycock gave an interesting talk on the Lambeth conference. Refreshments were served by the Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.L.

NO NEW ARCHIVES BRANCH
Ottawa, June 25.—The government has no intention of establishing a branch of the archives department in western Canada at present. When the civil government vote for his department was before the Commons in committee yesterday, Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, said representations had been made, but no action was contemplated at present.

STILL SEARCHING FOR BOY'S BODY

Unmoored Canoe and Bicycle Mute Evidence of Tragedy in Harbor

Despite the efforts of a diver and dragging operations carried on since yesterday morning, no trace had been found this afternoon of eleven-year-old Teddy Williams, who is believed to have been drowned in the Inner Harbor, off the causeway Tuesday night.

A dugout canoe, in which the boy was reported seen about 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night, and his bicycle, discovered by the causeway, is mute evidence of the tragedy which is thought to have occurred. The canoe, unmoored, was found near Hale's Boat-house yesterday morning.

The lad was in the habit of visiting the causeway boat houses and when he left his home at 218 St. Andrews Street Tuesday, about 7 o'clock, stated his intention of going to the Gorge in the regular launch, for which he had permission. The launch did not make the trip so the boy played around the wharves, being fond of water and boats. The theory is advanced that in stepping into the canoe he slipped and struck his head, falling into the water. He could swim a little.

Teddy's father, one brother and two sisters live in the city.

In examinations in the faculty of medicine at Toronto University recently, M. R. Caverhill of Victoria passed his second year tests with honors, according to advices received here.

SECOND APPEAL ALLOWED CROFT

Counsel Secures Unusual Privilege For Esquimalt Youth

With Mr. Justice Martin presiding, the British Columbia Court of Appeal this morning agreed to withdrawal of an unsuccessful personal appeal by Herbert Croft, against conviction and sentence of two years by Judge Lammiman on a charge of stealing an automobile.

A new hearing of the appeal was granted on application of E. L. Maitland, K.C., after H. A. Beckwith, Crown counsel, had given consent to the reopening of the issue. The appeal will be argued on Monday.

Mr. Maitland said he was in a very awkward position because of the personal appeal having been heard. Croft had been sentenced on May 3 and had been put in the blue notice of personal appeal. His father lived in Vancouver and had assured the lad that he would be represented by counsel at the appeal. When police officers had brought Croft to Victoria for the appeal he had not understood that his appearance was due to his filing the blue appeal notice. He had prepared no case because of reliance upon his father's assurance of legal counsel.

Mr. Maitland assured the court that he had not been briefed until after the appeal had been heard. He had studied the evidence and believed that, on grounds of mixed law and fact, a good case could be made out for the prisoner.

Mr. Beckwith recalled that the prisoner had stated, at his personal appeal, that he had expected the aid of counsel. He stated that, by instruction of Attorney-General Pooley, he had not taken out the order of the court dismissing the appeal because of receipt of notice from Mr. Maitland that further steps were to be taken and a desire to avoid prejudicing efforts toward giving full justice to the prisoner.

Having succeeded in reinstating the appeal against the conviction Mr. Maitland secured the consent of the court in his making an application for a rehearing on the sentence of two years as being too severe.

Passport Battle Ends With Judge Reserving Decision

Chinese Girl Now Seeking Entry Was Sold as a Baby, Says Counsel

After a three-day court battle, the habeas corpus action for the admission to Canada of Jung Suey Mee before Mr. Justice Gregory in the Supreme Court, came to an end at noon today, when the judge reserved his decision.

C. H. O'Halloran, lawyer for the girl, claimed she was a native of Canada, born at Union, B.C., and had been in China since her infant years. Immigration officials, defended in the action by Lindsey Creech, K.C., claimed the girl's real name was Choy Hung Tin, that she was born in China twenty years ago, and was trying to get into Canada by using the passport of Jung Suey Mee. Mr. Creech said her parents were poor people and, according to the immigration officials, had sold her to a Chinese restaurant in Vancouver, where she was now an employee in a Chinese restaurant in Vancouver.

Shields made the turn two up and lost the eleventh, a par four, when the round was completed. He retained by winning the fourteenth and fifteenth with pars when Willing had trouble with his approach shots, but let the next four slip away.

Alec Duncan, Seattle, was leading Bill Yost, Tacoma, three up. Frank Delp, Bryn Mawr, was two up. Fred Wood, Vancouver, was holding a four-hole advantage over Jimmie Burns, Portland, in the other three matches.

Duncan gained the three-hole lead on the first nine and held his own the rest of the way. Delp made the turn on Bryn Mawr and then won the tenth and fifteenth with pars while the British Columbia champion was capturing the fourteenth with a par.

WOOD ADDED ANOTHER HOLE TO HIS LEAD ON THE LAST NINE BY WINNING THE LAST THREE WITH PARS, WHILE BUSHONG WAS BUSY BLINDING OUT CRAIG.

The Canadian, turned out best lost ground when he dropped the tenth to a par five, won the twelfth and lost the thirteenth and fifteenth to par figures before running out the three victories.

Mrs. B. E. Eva, Portland, was the first woman to advance to the semifinals. She conquered Mrs. F. C. Shaneman, Tacoma, 7 and 6, in their eighteen-hole match.

Bureau Seeks Concession For Motor Tourists

Thousands Of Lilies Shown To Aid Churches

Thousands and thousands of lovely and fragrant Regal lilies was the sight which rewarded the crowd of almost 400 who visited the Wrentham Lily Farm at West Saanich yesterday afternoon, the grounds being thrown open to the public for the benefit of the Women's Auxiliaries of St. Stephen's and St. Mary's Churches, whose funds were handsomely augmented from the proceeds of the affair.

Tea was served under the direction of Mrs. W. O. Wallace and Mrs. W. R. McDermott, who were assisted by the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary guilds. Tables were set in attractive spots about the lawn, on the veranda and in the various reception rooms. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Taylor making home, strawberries and ice cream were also served and helped to swell the proceeds.

City May Request Freshwater Rights

Resumption of Fight For Sea-Plane Base Indicated Here To-day

Interest of Four Air Services Shows Promise For Development

Following the intimation in a Vancouver dispatch yesterday that the Western Canada Airways Limited would use a base in the Inner Harbor for a Victoria-Vancouver seaplane service, a renewal of efforts to obtain freshwater rights for Erie Street property owned by the city was indicated today. The City Council, at its next meeting, will be asked to apply to Ottawa for the rights, it is expected.

If the city is successful in obtaining the freshwater concession, there is still a possibility that Edward A. Lowe Jr., president of the Pacific International Airways, will resume plans for establishment of a base here, although no definite statement has been forthcoming on this point. Mr. Lowe dropped all development plans after signing a lease for a base here, but the seaplane service was refused because of objections by shipping interests to planes landing in the Inner Harbor.

Announcements that both the Western Canada Airways and the British Columbia Coastal Airways are planning services to Victoria, following closely on the incorporation recently of the All-Canadian Enterprise Airways, which would include Victoria in a provincial service, was heralded locally as concrete evidence that the city's air future is assured.

In the event of the Pacific International renewing its interest, four air lines would be in the field to vie for the traffic between here and the mainland. Beyond the definite statement from Major D. McLaren, of the Western Canada Airways, that its service will commence next Wednesday, other arrangements are as yet in a nebulous state, it appears.

The B.C. Coastal Airways, with which Squadron Leader MacKay, former director of civil aviation, is associated, has taken over the Alaska-Washington Airways of B.C., but details of their plans are not known as yet. The All-Canadian Enterprise Company proposes operation of a twenty-three passenger flying boat on the service, starting early next month.

Had Been Told PENSIONS GIVEN

First Cheques Had Been Received By Lady McBride and Mrs. Smith

Cancellation Proves Government Word Worthless, Says T. D. Pattullo

Cancellation by the provincial government of monthly pensions to Lady McBride and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith came after the ladies had received their first cheques accompanied by a communication to the effect they would receive them regularly in the future. T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, stated this morning.

He pointed out that the government was cancelling its word and its bond no better than its word. Mr. Pattullo remarked.

"Shortly after the assumption of office by the present administration, Attorney-General Pooley approached me in the matter of an annual allowance to Lady McBride. Mr. Pattullo said, 'I stated that I was not personally opposed to it, but I thought it would come under some criticism. Upon subsequent occasions prior to the last session of the Legislature, the Attorney-General again approached me and was very insistent. I pointed out to him again that I had personally no objection to the allowance, but that the granting of such allowance would at once bring up for consideration any similar instances, and I cited the case of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, who personally had spent many years in public life, and who had surely earned the consideration and gratitude of the people of the province. Attorney-General Pooley agreed to grant Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith an allowance also.'

"Subsequently, in April, the Provincial Secretary's Department forwarded cheques to Lady McBride and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, accompanied by communications in which it was stated that the monthly cheques would be sent monthly, subject to further instructions. No further cheque or communication was forwarded by the Provincial Secretary's Department to these ladies, and it has recently been announced that no allowances are being paid to Lady McBride and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith."

"This is surely Indian giving," the speaker asserted, "and it is the government's policy to treat the Indians as such. The government knows that the word of this government is worthless, and its bond is no better than its word."

BIG REDUCTION IN APPLE CROP

Okanagan Reports Harvest Will Be One-fourth Below Last Year

The apple crop of British Columbia will this year be almost twenty-five per cent below that harvested last year, according to estimates made by the horticulture branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. It is reported for all varieties except Wealthy, which shows an increase of sixteen per cent. McIntosh Red, the largest producer of any variety, shows a decrease of twenty per cent. In the Kootenay district many varieties show an increase but the total estimate for the area indicated a decrease of almost five per cent.

The markets branch of the Department of Agriculture reports Saskatoon eager for strawberries at around $4.50 a crate. A shipment from Wynneville arrived in good condition Tuesday. The market was quickly sold. A few crates of Gordon Head berries arrived at Calgary on Tuesday in "off condition."

All recent shipments from the coast have been in poor shape. The Gordon Head berries were sold on a basis of twenty-five cents wholesale profit, to net $1.50 a crate.

Bayberries arrived at Calgary in mouldy condition and could not be shipped further.

The usual Friday night rehearsal for the Diamond Jubilee Pageant will be held this week at the Campbell Building, top floor, instead of the Chamber of Commerce. Participants are requested to attend.

UNUSUAL RAINS HOLDING BACK TOURIST SEASON

E. A. Field Reports People All Along Coast States Anxious About Weather

Former Land Commissioner For C.N.R. at Winnipeg Returns For Holiday to Alaska

People in the Pacific Northwest appear to be waiting for the passing of the unparalleled June wet season before they set out on their annual vacations. This is one of the reasons for the late tourist movement, in the opinion of E. A. Field, former land commissioner for the Canadian National Railways at Winnipeg, now retired, and a resident of Santa Monica, Cal., who is in the city today looking over familiar ground.

Mr. Field, accompanied by his wife and daughter, motored up from Santa Monica, and it was wet, he said, from the time he passed north of San Francisco. There have been steady rains all over the states of Oregon and Washington, and these inclement conditions, he believes, had caused the motorists to hold back in the hope of better weather.

Comparatively few automobiles were encountered on the highways, as compared with other years at this stage of the season.

MOVEMENT IN JULY

Mr. Field thinks there will be a pronounced movement of tourist travel up the coast towards British Columbia next month.

This evening he and his family will leave for Alaska by the steamer Prince Henry and on the return trip from Skagway may go on to Winnipeg from Prince Rupert.

Mr. Field's retirement was brought about by illness about eighteen months ago and he has since been living in southern California. He was succeeded as C.N.R. land commissioner by his assistant, G. G. Baird. Mr. Field and his family have been at the Empress Hotel since the beginning of the week.

MUST BE GOOD WORLD CITIZEN

Broad Outlook Toward Orientals and Other Races Needed, Says Dr. J. McKay

Tells Rotarians of Mighty Forces at Work in World

"We cannot afford to treat with contempt any one of these great eastern races. China to-day is the greatest potential opportunity in the world for B.C. trade. She needs just the things we want to sell. Japan, even now our greatest purchaser, has made a more marvelous progress since 1864 than any country in the history of the world. The Japanese are simply saturated with a fine culture; their graciousness puts the cruder westerners to shame. It is the way we treat these races that will determine our fate in the coming days."

In these words, Dr. John McKay, principal of Manitoba College, and a delegate at the conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations, addressed the Rotarian Club at its luncheon to-day in the Empress Hotel.

In his stirring talk on "Our Contacts with the Orient," Dr. McKay emphasized that peace could no longer be guaranteed to the world unless friendship and understanding were built between the peoples of the world.

"It may seem trite," he said, "but I do not think that ever before in the history of the world have forces so mighty, for good or ill, been released as are being released at this present time," emphasized Dr. McKay.

The speaker stressed the danger of undervaluing other cultures of the world, and the invidious "complex" that looked upon Orientals as "inferior." The Orientals, he said, had cultures dating back thousands of years before those of the Occidentals began, and China had reached a very high stage of development "when our ancestors were still savages."

The lesson of leisure, he said, was that of the "scouring modern world," he added.

Dr. McKay told his audience that a distinguished Chinese, in reflecting on the treatment he had received from white people, once remarked: "The average man seems to think that China consists of 400,000,000 laundrymen."

FOOTBALLERS GUESTS

Guests of the Rotary Club for today's luncheon were the touring English footballers, who left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver. The players and managers were introduced by Alderman James Adam. C. W. Brown, joint-manager, replied, thanking the Rotarians for their hospitality.

A pleasing ceremony was the presentation to Herbert Penderay of the Dominion Football Association's badge. The award was made by John Russell, president of the association, was in recognition of the hospitality Mr. Penderay extended to the English players and officials during their stay here.

Percy Watson, president of the Rotary Club, was in the chair and the club orchestra played musical selections.

At a meeting of the School Board to-morrow evening reorganization of the school teaching staffs for next term will be discussed.

Copies of resolutions which will be considered at the national convention of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada to be held in Regina in September have been received by A. H. C. Jones, secretary of the Victoria Council, and may be seen by groups interested by applying to him.

The resolutions embrace a wide variety of subjects, including superannuation, eight-hour day, overtime pay, light-keepers' working conditions and pay, permanency of temporary employees and relate to all branches of the service.

Matters of interest to Dominion Government employees on this coast include the protest against the recent order of the Department of Marine in discontinuing the issue of uniforms to men employed on the Canadian Government steamer Estevan.

The local council has also several resolutions for the convention regarding lighthouse-keepers, whose working conditions they have been fighting to improve, permanency of men employed in the Esquimalt dockyard and the Department of Public Works. Resolutions regarding the permanency of men employed in the Public Works department point out that some of them have been classed as temporary employees for as long as twenty years and through this classification have no assurance of an annual increase in pay or promotion and are not entitled to superannuation.

Under the auspices of the Liberal Women's Forum, a silver tea will be held to-morrow afternoon from 3 till 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Walter Scott, 2260 Woodman Crescent, off Monterey Avenue. There will be a musical programme, and should the weather prove propitious, visitors will be able to enjoy the charming garden.

At a meeting of the School Board to-morrow evening reorganization of the school teaching staffs for next term will be discussed.

From an Equity and Earning Standpoint some PREFERRED SHARES would appear under-valued at present

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, June 25.—Wheat: Firm during the first period when prices scored a gain of 1/4 cent over the close last night, but there was no real business in evidence and when the market opened weak local prices declined about one cent from early top levels, sinking to the daily bid prices, buying against which was about the only support in evidence.
There was moderate selling throughout, some longs were liquidating and the pool was credited with selling further amounts of July, understood to be cleaning up the balance of the 1929 crop which it is said must be liquidated this month. Export sales were confined to a few scattered lots. Probably about 150,000 bushels in all position. Outside of a fair demand for some durum, the demand for cash wheat was dull. Offerings continued light and spreads were unchanged. Flour trade remains unchanged. There was an odd scattered shower in the northwest, otherwise the whole north-west belt was dry with the weather clear.
A storm of protest is rolling into Washington and it is now reported that President Hoover has called a conference for next week to consider the reports from Kansas that the farmers are demanding the Farm Board hold old crop wheat off the market until prices reach one dollar on the Chicago market.
Crops in South Russia are officially stated to be in good shape, with harvest three or four weeks away. Would continue purchases to the setbacks while the hedging pressure from winter wheat is heavy. Winnipeg futures closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.
Coarse grains: Outside of a little oat and barley worked for a few minutes, the coarse grains were quiet and more or less following the trend of wheat. Understood that there were some bids in the market but slightly out of line. Locals were taking the offerings on the scale down, but the trade volume was very light and featureless.
Oats closed unchanged to 1/4 lower. Barley 1/4 to 1/2 lower, and rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Flax dull and featureless, closing prices quoted to 1/4 lower.
Liverpool due unchanged to 1/4 lower based on Winnipeg.

"Good! Then if you will take the trouble to tell her I never dreamed of lifting my eyes to her, or to your pocketbook, you may make it easier for her to treat me as a harmless young man, her father's diligent secretary and no spy."

"What do you mean by that?" demanded Robert MacBeth, and receiving no answer, at once said even more anxiously, "What do you mean by 'spy'?"

"That I am not one. Yet Miss MacBeth treats me as though I were continually spying upon her."

"What reason has Roberta to fear that?" her determined father asked again.

"I plead ignorance," declared his secretary, inwardly cursing himself for having even hinted at "I don't know the reason for her suspicion," only that it is so, and she makes me feel it."

The waiter entered with the supper and arranged it on the library table. MacBeth settled himself on his pillows and, as he picked up his spoon, regarded the young man with amusement. "Funny way to spend an hour at a party. I appreciate it, of course, but it makes me wonder."

"There's no cause to wonder," the younger man's tone was so weary—so disillusioned—that it startled MacBeth. "I don't give two pence for parties, sir. Haven't for years. Never really at home, really enjoying myself. That's why I would rather eat with you, sir. Somehow," he added, "despite the fact that you are older and my 'boss,' I have always had a feeling that you liked me—for myself."

"You are not far off," MacBeth told him. "I liked you from the first. I'm going to sit here day by day, doing nothing, and watching you bring home the bacon."

Sir George stared at him in amazement.

"I mean watching you do the work that I ought to do."

"Oh—Odd expression that! I thought it meant a little marketing on my part for the household, and I was just a trifle bothered. I never did market, but of course that's no reason why I shouldn't begin."

"Atta boy! Reach me a cigarette. Don't you like the boys here?" MacBeth asked as the younger man rose to get the cigarettes.

"Oh, immensely! Only they seem very young to me," said Sir George.

as he discovered that the 'matches' were not with the cigarettes, but on a stand near the window, and moved for her to treat me as a harmless young man, her father's diligent secretary and no spy."

Robert MacBeth opened his lips to tell him that Ray Browne and others had been in France during the war and were fully as old if not older than he. He was about to put something of this in words, when to his amazement the cigarettes were dashed on the desk and Sir George, with a quick low exclamation went plunging through the window and along the terrace, in rapid pursuit of someone or something.

CHAPTER VIII

Someone had been listening at the window. Though he flung himself so heedless into the pursuit that he was well carrying in his hand a box of matches and a single cigarette which he had taken out of the box for MacBeth, Sir George was not in time to see him. He was about to put something of this in words, when to his amazement the cigarettes were dashed on the desk and Sir George, with a quick low exclamation went plunging through the window and along the terrace, in rapid pursuit of someone or something.

But the delay had been sufficient. There was no sign of the man he had been pursuing, and he reached the water's edge there was no one there. Mechanically he began searching for some hiding place among the bushes, when Roberta joined him. She was alone and breathless, and both facts made Sir George suspicious.

"What happened?" she asked him abruptly.

He answered her with equal abruptness. "You have just prevented my capturing someone who was watching."

or listening, under your father's window."

She gave him a quick startled look, and then raising her voice a little higher, whether with intent or astonishment he could not be quite sure. "What things you imagine! How could he have come this way without my seeing him?"

Sir George did not answer. He went down to the water's edge and then started toward the bridge which lay in shadow. Instantly this provoking girl was in front of him again.

"I asked you—"

In the heat of his anger at her persistence he answered her as he would not have done if he had stopped to think for a moment. "Some friend of yours, evidently, since you are so anxious to screen him."

She stepped back as though he had struck her.

"Do you mean—" she began.

"I don't mean anything," he answered, avoiding her. "I would like to continue my search alone. Go back to your room, or go back to your father, and explain to him why you blocked my way."

He had twisted from her now. If she had wished to stop him she could not. He ran, with the quick swiftness which his long legs made possible, across the little bridge and up the road that led to the highway. The road behind and before him was quite empty. He waited a moment, his senses alert, for any movement in the brush but there was none. Not a sound, so far as he could hear. He went slowly back to meet, as he crossed the bridge, various riotous greetings and questions as to where and when he had lost his girl. He replied to them in the same jesting tone, relieved that he had not been seen running along the terrace, and that no one had been alarmed.

Robert MacBeth gave him a quick inquiring look. He answered it with a hint warning toward the door.

Lady Sandison went down the door with some of Robert's guests, saying in a low voice to her stepson, as she passed him: "Dance with Roberta, indie. She's missed you."

"I can't flatter myself so much as to believe that, Aggy. I advise you—as they say over here—to 'lay off us.' You can't drive us together."

"Dear me, dear!" said Lady Sandison and hurried after her guests as Sir George and MacBeth looked up at Sir George as the others left the room.

"Well?"

"I couldn't catch him."

"Who?"

"The man who was listening at the window."

"You're crazy!"

"I chased him along the terrace and down to the water's edge and then—"

"Well?"

"Then I lost him."

"Why?"

"Because a girl got between us. I had to avoid knocking her down. The fellow got away."

"Who was the girl?"

"That's what I want to tell you."

"Then you think she knew something?"

"I couldn't say."

Robert MacBeth gazed at him puzzled. "What would he want under my window?"

"Again I don't know, sir. But there are a lot of your men here to-night. They—I mean the gang after your payroll—may have thought you would discuss some of your plans. Someone was there and he was listening."

Robert MacBeth leaned back to study the facts again. While he did so the band played a rousing waltz. "If you're worried about the payroll," MacBeth, who had been smoking and thinking, suddenly said aloud, "the spy went empty away. Nothing to tell to anyone to-night about our plans."

"Good! Then we'll sleep on it. I have a scheme which I would like to tell you about to-morrow."

"A voice from the door made them look up. "Tired, didn't?" Roberta asked. She glanced quickly at the two men. "Has Sir George been scaring you with his imaginary men-behind-window-curtains? He's so determined to find out if he's really out of the earth, though it was really only from behind the shrubbery near the landing place, and blocked his way. He flung out his hand, to keep from falling himself or knocking her down, and grasped her shoulders. He spun her out of the way, disregarding her gasp of, 'What's wrong?'"

But the delay had been sufficient. There was no sign of the man he had been pursuing, and he reached the water's edge there was no one there. Mechanically he began searching for some hiding place among the bushes, when Roberta joined him. She was alone and breathless, and both facts made Sir George suspicious.

"What happened?" she asked him abruptly.

He answered her with equal abruptness. "You have just prevented my capturing someone who was watching."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Surprised Wolf

(Copyright, 1931, by Howard R. Garis)

Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig gentleman, stood on the edge of the old dry well, holding fast to one end of a grapevine rope and looking at the Woolly Wolf. At the other end of the grapevine rope, down on the bottom of the well, was Uncle Wiggily Longears.

But though the pig gentleman knew that Uncle Wiggily was down in the well, the Wolf didn't know it and that was a good thing. Mr. Twistytail knew Uncle Wiggily was down in the well because Twisty was there when the rabbit had fallen in. The two were adventuring in the woods together. More than this, Mr. Twistytail had been talking to Uncle Wiggily. And more than that, Mr. Twistytail had been trying to pull Uncle Wiggily up out of the well by the long grapevine ropes which the two animal friends were taking to their homes to make swags.

But when Twisty was putting, hauling, tugging and straining, Mr. Twistytail could not, by himself, pull Uncle Wiggily up out of the well, the pig gentleman said:

"I'll go get help."

And when, all of a sudden, the Woolly Wolf popped out of the bushes and growled:

"I'll help you. What are you trying to pull up out of the well?"

SURVEY PLANNED OF NON-METALLIC MINE RESOURCES

Department of Mines to Determine Potential Products and Market For B.C.

Non-metallic mineral resources of British Columbia and the possibilities of their economic development, to a greater degree than will be investigated by the Department of Mines, according to Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines.

A. M. Richmond, assistant resident engineer at Nelson, B.C., has been released temporarily from his regular duties under the "Mineral Survey and Development Act" and instructed to undertake a study of these questions. He will assemble all information available, look into problems having to do with the treatment of various materials in their preparation for the market, and compile a report for general distribution, under the supervision of J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist.

In explaining his objective, Mr. McKenzie said, while there was a considerable production of non-metallic minerals as structural materials, it was believed an intensive study would reveal possibilities for further utilization of non-metallic mineral deposits of the province. The present extent of the industry is shown by the fact that structural materials output in 1930 amounted to $4,092,568, and in addition other non-metallic minerals produced were valued at $436,234, making a total of $4,528,802, or 12.2 per cent of the gross value of the mineral output for the year. Coal is not considered in these figures.

In addition, it is planned to make a survey of markets to ascertain if British Columbia minerals are available to replace those imported either in raw or manufactured form. The production of ordinary structural materials is well taken care of in the province, it is considered there are certain activities that may be stimulated by the present investigation. There is a market outside British Columbia for certain high-grade non-metallic minerals and attention will be directed to determine if any of the British Columbia deposits are of the requisite purity.

In all probability the survey will not be completed inside of a year.

To co-operate in the survey prospectors and owners of non-metallic deposits which they think may be of value are requested to forward samples and descriptive information on the same to the Bureau of Mines at Victoria.

NEW CANADIAN LITERATURE CALL HEARD IN EAST

Wilson Macdonald Says Last Traces of Colonialism Should Be Routed

Toronto, June 25.—Wilson Macdonald, well-known Toronto poet, electrified the Canadian Authors' Association yesterday by denouncing what he called the "colonialism" of Canadian literature. He pointed out the difference at home and abroad until Canada stands alone, according to Mr. Macdonald.

Not only Englishmen like Alfred Noyes, but Canadian university professors came in for a scorching attack from Mr. Macdonald. "Here in Toronto," he said, "we have witnessed the indifference of Toronto University as far as Carman and Roberts are concerned. Universities of Canada, apart from the Maritimes, have scarcely made a gesture of friendship toward Canadian genius."

Mr. Macdonald told me almost triumphantly that he knew nothing of Canadian literature, but when he arrived in the United States he was anxious to impress upon the American people that he had read their national poets. Why this reverse attitude of contempt for colonialism is not at its base?

Must Hurt Wife Sacrifice Herself to Protect Her Faithless Husband?—Why This Widower Should Be Happy Married to His Wife's Sister

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is having an affair with a married woman who lives over his place of business. The woman's husband and two sons, fifteen and eighteen years of age, are absolutely ignorant of this. My husband's viewpoint is that as he loves this woman he is doing me a great favor by supporting the home, and he threatens what he will do to me if I do anything to harm this woman or tell her husband.

Out of my great respect and affection for my husband's mother, I have refrained from taking any drastic steps in the matter. There could be no future for my husband with this woman, even if she were free, and I do not believe that she would give up her home and children for him if it came to a test. What can I do to save my foolish husband and this woman's husband and her children from disgrace?

JUST A WIFE
WHOSE HEART IS SO HURT.
Answer—The only way you can save the others is by continuing to sacrifice yourself. It is a hard thing that you, who are innocent of all wrongdoing, should have to suffer for the sins of the guilty, but life is often like that. Cruel and unjust.

If you bring suit for divorce, as you have a perfect right to do, the whole sordid story becomes known. Your husband and the woman are disgraced, as they richly deserve to be, but the old mother has her last days made bitter for her by being shamed by the son of whom she is so proud; the woman's husband's life will be shattered by the knowledge that the wife he trusted has betrayed him and the two boys will be robbed of all respect and reverence for their mother and know her for a wanton.

Two homes will be broken up, and to what end? You will have your revenge, but will it be sweet in your mouth? Will it repay you? Will you be happier for having punished those who deserve to be punished when you had to punish the guiltless as well?

I don't believe you will, and while I do not counsel you to make a martyr of yourself for the sake of others, I do urge you to consider the subject from every point of view. Consider yourself first. Nobody can overestimate the sufferings of a fine and noble woman, such as you show yourself to be, when she finds that her husband is unfaithful to her. She has given him all the best of her, body and soul. She has loved him, worked for him, sacrificed for him, done her duty in every way and, like a spoiled child, he throws her aside as a toy of which he is tired. Her sense of justice is outraged. Her pride is cut to the quick. Her wifehood is dishonored. Her heart bleeds from a thousand wounds.

She would be more than human if she were not devoured by jealousy and filled with a desire to strike back and hurt those who have hurt her so cruelly, and in her hand is the weapon with which to lay them low. She can bring shame upon them. She can make their names a hissing and a byword. She can ruin her husband's business and shut the doors of society in the woman's face.

Yet if the aggrieved wife takes her troubles into court, very often her revenge is a boomerang that returns and annihilates her. She gets her divorce, but it does not soothe the ache in her heart nor fill her empty life. Sometimes she finds that even a part-time husband is better than no husband at all, and certainly she finds out that the woman who has her home and a comfortable support has a consolation prize that is worth possessing. All that many a woman gets out of a divorce is the necessity of earning her own bread and butter.

If your husband wanted to marry this woman and she wanted to marry him, it would alter the situation. Then there would be nothing for you to do, if you had any self-respect, but to let him go. But as there is no question of this, it seems to me that the wise thing for you to do is to endure the situation with what fortitude you can summon.

In that case you keep your home and save yourself the agonizing struggle a middle-aged woman has in trying to support herself at an unaccustomed task and you will have the serenity of spirit that comes to those who rise above their own personal misfortunes and put the good of others before their own.

If it is any comfort to you and you want him back, in the end you will have your poor, wandering sheep return to the fold. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widower, forty-nine years old. I was very devoted to my wife and was very good to her and we were very happy together. Now I have fallen in love with my wife's sister, who is a widow of my age. I love her because she is so much like my wife and has her little ways. Do you think it would be wrong for us to marry?

Answer—Certainly not. I think it is just the right thing for you to do and that you will be awfully happy together because you know each other so well and will find it easy to adapt yourselves to each other.

Of course, in England it used to be against the law for a man to marry his deceased wife's sister, but modern enlightenment changed all that. People could see how a woman's sister could slip into the heart of a bereaved husband and fill her place more fully than any other woman could possibly do.

So I should say that a sister-in-law is a preferred risk in matrimony. She will know all of your little peculiarities and you won't have to tell her about all the little things you are so fussy about. She will know whether you like your steak smothered in onions or whether you can't bear the smell of them and how much sugar you like in your coffee and not to meddle with your papers or clean your pipe.

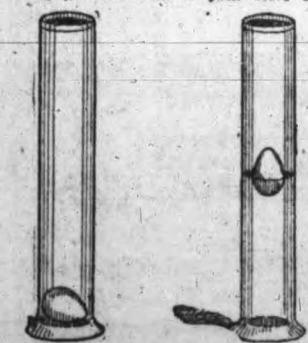

She will know how you treated her sister, and if she is willing to take a chance on you, it's a pretty good recommendation. Furthermore, it is a compliment you pay your wife when you want to marry another woman as much like her as possible. DOROTHY DIX.

Making an Egg Float

The past Monday I told you a way to make an egg stand on end without cracking it at the bottom. To-day I have further tests with eggs which I want to describe. If you make those tests, you will add to your store of

At left, egg which has sunk to bottom of water. At right, egg which rests midway in glass of brine and water.

"magic tricks" and will also learn something about an important law of nature.

Get the tallest glass you can find, and almost fill it with plain drinking water. Then drop a fresh egg gently in the water. If the egg behaves itself as it should, it will sink to the bottom of the glass.

Remove the egg, and pour out the water until the glass is only half full. Then place one-fourth of a cup of salt in the remaining water—that amount of common table salt has a hardly the value of a cent, and this trial should give you more than a cent's worth of fun.

Stir the salt and water with a spoon until well mixed, and you will have in the glass what is often called "brine."

Place the same egg in the brine and (if you have made the trial just right) the egg will float on the surface.

Recently I made that test, and also another one. While the egg was floating in the brine, I poured over it almost half a glass of fresh water. Instead of rising to the top, the egg remained midway between the rim of the glass and the bottom. The fresh water, being lighter and being poured gently into the glass, remained above the brine.

A law of Nature which students of "physics" are taught is this: "A solid object will displace its own weight, but no more, when placed in a liquid."

Cubic inch for cubic inch, an egg is heavier than fresh water but lighter than brine.

Drop a piece of cork in water and it will float. Most kinds of wood will float, and most kinds of rock will sink; but there is a wood so heavy it will sink in water and rock so light it will float. Some day I may describe rock which will float and wood which will sink in water.

(You may place this article in your scrapbook either under "Magic Tricks" or under "Science," subhead "Physics.")

ESTIMATES OF THE C.N.R. FOR YEAR APPROVED

Commons Committee Votes; C.N.R.-C.P.R. Pacific Coast Ship Pooling Considered

Ottawa, June 25.—After several days of discussion, the special Commons committee yesterday afternoon unanimously passed a motion receiving and adopting the annual report of the Canadian National Railways for the calendar year of 1930 and the estimates of the system for 1931. The motion was moved by William Duff, Liberal, Antigonish-Guyabro, N.S. R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York Sunbury, N.B., suggested a rider be added that in view of the heavy capital expenditures by the system in recent years, the committee was of the opinion care should be taken to keep such expenditures to the minimum. The chairman, Hon. J. D. Chaplin, Conservative, Lincoln, Ont., said he would prepare a report that he would recommend the committee to accept which would cover this policy and accordingly Mr. Hanson did not press his proposal.

NEW SECURITIES

The committee approved two bills dealing with the finances of the railroads and recommended them to the Commons. They would authorize the issuing of securities, guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada, to the extent of $60,000,000.

SELECTION OF POSTMASTERS IS DISCUSSED

King Tells Commons M.P.'s Could Choose Well For Small Communities

Ottawa, June 25.—A statement by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, that the believed postmasters in small communities should be removed from control of the Civil Service Commission of Canada, featured discussion of the civil government vote for the Commons yesterday. In small communities, the member of Parliament was often a better judge of who would make the best postmaster than any commission of outsiders, he said. While making it quite clear, he believed very strongly in the principle of a commission, the opposition leader expressed the view that "we have gone altogether too far in what we are expecting the Civil Service Commission to do against what should be part of the responsibility of the ministry of the day." He remembered the introduction into the Commons some years ago, said Mr. King, of a bill, the object of which was to remove certain classes of positions from the control of the commission. One class of position was that of postmasters in small communities. "I opposed that measure at the time and voted against it," Mr. King said. "The wider experience of government and administration of affairs has led me to change my mind. I made a mistake in that vote, and if that same bill were reintroduced to-day I would support it rather than oppose it."

JAIL SENTENCE IS URGED IN STOCK RACKETS

Attorney-General of New York Tells of Efforts to Put Swindlers Out

New York, June 25.—Racketeers selling fraudulent stock obtain more than $400,000,000 annually from investors, according to Attorney-General John J. Bennett Jr., in a radio address broadcast over Station WOR.

Mr. Bennett spoke on "The Scope of the Martin Act" and in his address attributed the continued success of stock racketeers to the fact that "in our economic life most of us are animated by an understandable sense of cupidity, which leads us to take what appears to be the easiest way to financial security."

He reviewed the work of the State Securities Bureau which prosecutes violations of the Martin Act, and brought out that from the first of this year to the end of last year, 1930, 121 indictments were returned against stock racketeers. Sixteen of these were against individuals, and 105 were against corporations. The Attorney-General said it was his policy to prosecute by indictment every case of fraudulent stock selling where such action is warranted. He promised relentless enforcement of the Martin Act and asked his listeners to communicate with the State Securities Bureau when approached by stock salesmen who offer unusually large profits. He warned against investment in securities without consultation with bankers or other responsible persons.

TELLS OF IMPERFECTIONS

"During the last four months in the New York City Fraud Bureau, 193 individuals and firms have been indicted for stock racketeering," said Mr. Bennett. "This record is far in advance of any previous year with the exception of the peak year which it equals. It has been my policy to proceed against bucketshop operators by way of indictments. In all, since the first of the year, nineteen indictments involving bucketshop racketeering and embezzlement have been returned. Most of these indictments have been secured since April 1, and all with the exception of one, which has resulted in a conviction, are now in course of prosecution."

"This record compares more than favorably with that of previous years. In all, the New York City Fraud Bureau, has been responsible for twenty-four criminal prosecutions during the last five months, whereas in the entire year of 1930, only twenty-five arrests were made."

BLAMES PUBLIC'S CUPIDITY

As to the reason why such huge sums are taken fraudulently from the public, Mr. Bennett said: "The stock racketeer, despite his high pressure salesmanship technique, but would have little success were it not for the fact that in our economic life most of us are animated by an understandable sense of cupidity. In our efforts to attain financial security most of us are willing to take what appears to be the easiest way."

"Despite the fact that we have been educated to believe that there is no short cut to economic independence, many of us still continue to purchase securities having so more intricate value than the blue sky above. Still others buy stocks of negligible worth at excessive prices, not frequently exchanging them, therefore, valuable securities and bonds or depleting savings accounts."

The warning to beware of all investments that offer quick and large returns has been broadcast to prospective investors on innumerable occasions in the past, but I venture to repeat it. I might also advise every one to be skeptical of all promises of easy wealth. Always seek the advice of your banker before making security commitments of any kind."

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting
Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leubardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that McFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores say one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must end your pile agony or money back. (Adv.)

BIBLICAL PLAYS STIR LONDON

Critics Scathing on New "Judas" Play; Noah Also Dramatized

By THOS. T. CHAMPTION
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
London, June 25.—Is London in for a burst of Biblical plays? On Monday night a French company gave a stage presentation of the story of Noah. Tuesday night, at the Theatre Theatre, the Cambridge Festival Players produced "Judas," by F. V. Ratti, translated by F. O. Dempsey.

London's dramatic critics took with disfavour upon the "Judas" play. There is nothing in it to offend the religious sensibilities, but as an exercise or diversion for the intellect the play is written down as feeble in the extreme. It is based on the assumption Judas was a much-maligned man. Such an assumption is even more gratuitous, observers assert, than the effort made to whitewash another New Testament character by a certain bygone best-seller among the lady novelists. It is complained that the author comes sadly, to grief attempting to paraphrase the language of the Bible. And the scenery, for such a play, is deemed an affront.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, June 25.—Identity of the Portland-California Steamship Company, purchased by twenty-two ships from the former Trans-Marine Corporation, remained a mystery in San Francisco waterfront circles yesterday.

General belief was the company was headed by the Dollar interests, but this report could not be confirmed. R. Stanley Dollar, head of the Dollar lines, is due here to-day from Southern California and it is expected he will make a definite announcement.

Another ground for speculation was the cost of the vessels—$400,000. Shipping men said eight of the vessels are worth $75,000 each, and while the other fourteen are obsolete, they are of some value as junk.
